Washington, April 9 .- (Special.)-The senate was the all observed body of congress today. The opening proceedings were made of interest by the swearing in of Georgia's new senator, Patrick Walsh. A large crowd had assembled in the gallery to see the Georgian initiated, while all the Georgia congressmen were over to welcome him. Mrs. Walsh, accompanied by Miss Allen, of Augusta, and Mrs. Aspinwall, occupied the vice president's pew in the east gallery. Mr. Walsh was met at the senate by Senator Gordon. The end seat on the last row had been assigned him. On it rested two large baskets of flowers. As the vice president rapped for order in the regulation black Prince Albert coal of the senatorial cut, which means the though the style is the other way. Mr. Walsh's coat was buttoned, his hair was brushed well back and he looked every inch a typical senator. Senator Gordon's seat is just in front of his. After prayer Senator Gordon offered Mr. Walsh's credentials and asked that he be sworn in. The vice president called for him to come forward. On the arm of Senator Gordon, Mr. Walsh marched around in the rear of the desks, down the center aisle and up

Then the vice president turned and proceeded with the business of the senate, while a clerk shoved out a book for the new Georgia senator to sign his name in. seat with Senator Gordon. There the Georgia congressmen were formed in line to ender congratulations, after which Mr. Walsh was taken out in the corridor, where nis other friends greeted him and extended

Mr. Walsh has not been assigned on committees, but it is probable that he will be a member of the postoffice committee, chairman of the quadro-centennial committee, which will give him a committee room his committee is one of those that probably will not meet. He will retain Senator Colquitt's private secretary, Mr. Henry Jones, is clerk of his committee and will hold all of the appointees of Senator Colquitt in their places. This includes Colonel James R. Randall and Mr. Walter Colquitt, son of the late senator.

Wolcott Argues His Plan. After Mr. Walsh was sworn in today enator Wolcott delivered a strong silver speech in favor of his resolution providing for the negotiation of a treaty with Mexico for the coinage of Mexican dollars at our mints for shipment to Canada. Even Senator Sherman agreed to the resolution, but

Then the show of the day came off in the enate. It was the speech of David B. Hill, of New York, defining himself on the tariff bill. The chamber and the galleries were packed almost to secocation to hear he would say. Almost the entire house turned into the senate chamber.

Hill Tries to Bluff. Senator Dave had his speech prepared and read it, but he read with good effect and in tone that every one could hear. His speech was nothing more nor less than a ad, cold bluff. In substance, it said: "The two parties are practically evenly livided in the senate. I can defeat this tar.ff bill, and if you don't fix it to suit

The income tax was his main point of attack. He said: "Strike out or I will defeat your bill." Then he formally put himself in with the protection element of the party. He started out by justly criticising the adtration for its Hawaiian policy and Mr. Cleveland for selecting a republican for the chief office in his cabinet, facetiously remarking that therefore the republican party was partially responsible for the Hawaiian flasco. Then he pounded the income tax for two hours, declaring the bill would fail unless it was stricken out. He enounced it as a populist measure. He declared some democrats were trying to play he tail to the populist kite. Continued advocacy of this tax, he said, would cause the emocrats to lose the house and the senate at the next election and the presidency three years hence. He characterized the come tax as a scheme of speculation and as a sectional tax. The tariff bill with an ncome tax in it was, he said, not reform, but was folly and impotency. He harshly deised the makers of the tariff bill for reducing duties so low as to make an innless this was done to suit him the bill erally odious it was. fould fail and the income tax advocates partment of state in charge of a republican statesman, distinguished and estimable though he might be, whose public services had always been identified in opposition to the democratic party, and whose political convictions upon the disputed public questions of the day, if changed at all, had been carefully concealed. Mr. Hill expressed regret that the president should not wive been able to find in his own party some safe and honored statesman in whom he and his party could have placed confidence, one of democratic instincts and training, whose management of foreign affairs would have reflected credit upon the country, and would have avoided the promulgation of that under-American principle, a departure from democratic precedents, which was sought to be forced upon an unwilling peo-

he drew a contrast between 1887 and 1890, and said an extreme reduction of tariff duties at a time when the treasury was swollen with a surplus of a hundred million dollars, when all our industries were in motion, assumed a different aspect when proposed now with a large and growing treasury deficit, with our industries paralyzed, our manufactories closed, our working men idle and following upon the heels of one of the most disastrous financial panies in our history. What was safe and prudent and wise then it would be criminal folly to attempt now. Then he proceeded to assail the president's dilatoriness of action in this matter.

Warned of the Panic. Mr. Hill said: "A month prior to his inauguration the president was forewarned of the approaching monetary panic. He convened congress six months later, when the panic was subsiding which should have been averted. It is feared that this congress does not appreciate the awful devastation which the financial cyclone of last summer has inflicted upon the business interests of our country. It has made havoc of our prosperity, private and public. It has diminished all domestic and interstate trade until a fifth of our railroad mileage is in the hands of receivers, and all our banks are gorged with money unemployed. It has struck down by hundreds the captains of our industry who have been wont to organize profitable enterprises, borrow capital and lead the great mass of labor. This is no time for partisan reproaches, however just. The senate is nearly equally politically divided, apparent remedial legislation ordered then radicalism in any direction must be discarded. The extreme features revenues and to fill the void with an income tax.

"Against such a scheme-unnecessary, tress: undemocratic in its nature and socialistic in its tendencies-I enter the protest of the people of the state of New York. They utterly dissent from any proposal to get revenue for the general government by taxing incomes. Their disent is practically unanimous and altogether implacable. Not a Temporary Thing. This proposed tax is not advocated as a emporary expedient; there is no limitation fixed to its duration, but it is boldly proposed as a permanent policy for the government, it is vigorously defended, it is approved, and its ill-concealed sectionalism unblushingly excused. The ways and means committee of the house, as well as the house itself and the senate finance committee refuses to fix a time for the continu ance of this tax. It is clear that it was not designed for temporary relief merely, but once enacted will stand, like every other portion of the bill, until repealed. The plain issue which we are to meet is very indirect, vs. direct taxation.

He proceeded to declare his belief that the complete substitution of internal, direct, or income taxes for tariff taxes would prove utterly ruinous to the business interests of this country under existing conditions abroad, and that a partial substitution at this .. me would be proportionately disastrous. Let me not be misunderstood, he added. HE MAKES THEM OUT A VERY BAD LOT

Washington, April 9 .- The beginning of the second month of the Pollard-Breckinridge trial this morning, witnessed the beginning of the end in the commencement of argument before the jury. There were few persons present when the court convened, but the plaintiff was among the spectators, much to most persons' surprise. It was upposed she would not care to hear her character publicly discussed with the freeiom that counsel use in such matters.

Miss Poliard looked well and she appeared to be in the best of spirits, chatting with uss Ellis, of the House of Mercy who sat beside her. Colonel Breckinridge and all his lawyers were prompt, including Major Butterworth, who delivered a speech in Cincinnati Saturday night and left that city

After some time had been spent in impaneling a new circuit court jury, Judge Bradley read his decision with reference to tne prayers for instructions to the jury, which were submitted by both sides on Saturday. He granted nine of the fourteen of difference being that she said he acprayers of the plaintiff, modifying six of these, refusing four, and decided that one was covered by another prayer, thus practically granting ten of the fourteen prayers. Six of the tweive prayers of the defendant were granted and a substitute of Judge | girl in his path." Bradley's for another was accepted, thus making seven prayers granted, five with modifications, and the other five were refused. After making his decision, Judge Bradley said that while the burden of proof rested on the plaintiff to show that a contract to marry was entered into, but as the defendant had set up the defense that the contract was not made in good faith, the burden of proof would rest upon him to snow that there was an agreement that the contract was not to be carried out and that the statements made in the presence of other parties were made with .his understanding by both parties. Major Butterworth and Judge Wilson each made an appeal to the court not to set a limit of time on the argument, and Judge Bradiey granted the request with the understanding that the counsel would not take up too much time.

and from that time forth there is not even an attempt to attack the character of the plaintiff, except so far as it relates to the defendant himself. until this suit was filed." Aleck Julian, Miss Pollard's "blind Barnabas," was hauled over the coals by Mr. Carlisle at length.

"This brings us up to 1884, when the defendant met her," he said. "For nine years the defendant was intimately acquainted with the plaintiff, and yet, with all the khowledge gained by that intimacy, and with all his influence as a member of congress at his command, all he is able to produce are the depositions of such disreputable characters as Brant and Kaufman and Mollie Shinglebauer, and Aleck Julian, and Rankin Rozell and old man Wood." Madeline in Short Dresses.

The defense, said Mr. Carlisle, had taken the depositions of Orrin Brown and his sister, Mrs. Robertson, the children of the president of Wesleyan college, but i plaintiff that the plaintiff's counsel had read the depositions as part of the evidence. Mr. Carlisle handed the jury several tin-types of the pliantiff taken just before she met the defendant, where Miss Pollard is shown in short dresses.

"Look at those pictures," he said, with a ring in his voice, "and see if she appears to be the woman of experience on whom the defendant wishes to place half the burden of their intimacy. Look at that picture and then look at the defendant-look at the defendant and remember what little difference there was in his appearance then

Then Mr. Carlisle told of the meeting between the plaintiff and the defendant on the train in 1884. Le passed over this quickly, saying both parties said it was a mere trivial conversation, the only point costed her; he said she accosted him. "And now, before we go further," said Mr. Carlisle, "let us see what manner of man this was who had to go through the train to get his overcoat and who found a school

The contract with Rodes was taken up and fully reviewed as a preface to the call of Colonel Breckinridge at Wesleyan college, when Miss Pollard wanted his advice and assistance concerning the threat of Rodes that he would compel her by law to marry him or pay him back the money he had paid for her education.

Mr. Carlisle, in defending the plaintiff for writing to Breckinridge after she had met him but once, said that' the defendant had told her he knew her father, and she had said she knew him by reputation. Buenos Ayres, April 9, via Galveston.-The insurgent Admiral da Gama made his escape from the Portuguese warship Mindello at 2:15 p. m. yesterady, and arrived at the Buenos Ayres quarantine station last evening. The Portuguese sailors made no resistance to his leaving the warship. The Mindello and her companion ship, the Alfonso de Albuquerque, sailed for Montevideo at 10 o'clock this morning. Admiral da Gama, with a number of his officers, was confined on board the Mindello awaiting the arrival of the steamer Angola, which sailed from Lisbon April 4th, to convey him and his followers to Portugal, the remainder of his staff being similarly held on board the Alfonso de Albuquerque. Sunday afternoon a tug towing a lighter oaded with provisions for the Portuguese warships steamed alongside the Mindello, and the lighter was made fast to the warship, preparatory to unloading. While the provisions were being taken on board the warship Da Gama and thirty-two of his officers went on board the tug, cut the ines and steamed away. No resistance was offered by the crew, which fact suggests a prearranged plan for the escape of the insurgent admiral and his men. This theory is very much strengthened by the attitude of the owners of the tug. They deny any complicity whatever in the escape of the men, and positively refuse to furnish any details, but they admit that they expect compensation from Da Gama or some one in his behalf.

The destination of Da Gama is unknown, but there is an unconfirmed rumo he had been seen yesterady. This inlikely, as he has a host of friends here, many of them wealthy and influential, and ne would have no trouble in finding an The people of the Argentine republic gen-

The Behring Sea Bill Goes Through

Without Much Change. London, April 9.-The Behring sea bill passed its third reading in the house of commons this evening. It passed without amendment, Sir Charles Russell having ac-cepted Sir Richard Webster's suggestion that the clause to which the United States government is said to object be altered in the house of lords.

In accepting Sir Richard Webster's suggestion. Sir Charles Russell spoke at some length. The American and English bills, he said, were substantially the same. There were a few points of difference, but these were trivial.

Clause seven had been entirely misun-lerstood by the English and American newspapers. They seemed to think that the English bill would give immunity to vessels sailing for the Behring sea before the bill should go into effect. Nothing of the kind was contemplated. The only effect possible was that if a ship sailed without notice of the passing of the act and offended against is provision, its master would not be punished. The commanders of cruisers patroling the Behring sea would not be judges of the fact whether the ships had been notified before sailing. This was a matter for a court to deal with. He hoped that this explanation would be satisfactory. The clause had been inserted in the bill in response to Canada's demand. The home government thought this demand good and consented to the change in the bili. It was for the imperial parliament to discharge the imperial obligations imposed by the award. The government desired to give full effect to the award and secure adequate sanction for the enforcement of its provision. "Hear," Great Britain was not bound to follow verbatim et literatim the legislation of the United States on the subject, nor was the United States bound to pursue exactly the same course with Great Britain. Without any attempt at oratory ne told the jury that in his opening statement a month ago yester day, he had been exceedingly temperate, but he could now say that all his statements, and more than these, had been proved. He agreed with Major Butterworth that there were three parties to the suitthe plaintiff, the defendant and the commuin the newspapers of the progress of the consider its duty to the community, and promised to point out later on, what the community had a right to expect. Before going into the legal aspects of the case, Mr. Carlisle reminded the jury of the distinguished career of the defendant and the advantages at his command in preparing his defense. Mr. Carlisle said that the defendant had known the father of the plaintiff, who, though an humble saddler, was yet a prominent Mason and Odd Fellow. He sketched briefly the life of the plaintiff up to the filing of the suit, a period ranging from 1876, until 1893, and incidental to this

It has been shown by reputable witnesses on the stand, said Mr. Carlisle, that during the period covered by Mollie Shinglebauer-1877 and 1878, the plaintiff was in Pittsburg, Pa., and not in or near Frankfort, Ky., as the Shinglebauer woman testified. As to plaintiff had not spent a single night in exington during the period fixed by "those trict," as Mr. Carlisls called them, and further than that, it had been shown that the house fixed on by one of these men "in the exuberance of his imagination," as the place where Madeline Pollard lived with Lena Singleton, was not built until 1886. "I ask you, gentlemen," Mr. Carlisle said, "not to believe the story of John Brant and Hiram Kaufman." Then he took up the attack on the plaintiff's character contained in the testimony of Mr. Rankin Rozell, who aid he broke his engagement with Miss Pollard because "he did not like the way

"I think every one here has formed an mpression of Mr. Rozeil in the beginning, when he testified here. I got one, and I think you got the same one." The future relations of the plaintiff and the defendant were reviewed from the standpoint of each, and Mr. Carlisle contended that it had been shown that the guilty relations of the pair were continuous despite the testimony of the defendant that there had been long intervals in their re-lations. Then Mr. Carlisle took up the aleged promise of marriage, which Miss Pollard says was made in Washington on August 31, 1892. Colonel Breckinridge had testified that Miss Pollard was not in town at that time, but it had been proved by an enthat Miss Pollard returned on the date nam-ed. As to the defense of Colonel Breckin-ridge, that he and Miss Pollard had merely pretended to be engaged, Mr. Carlisle re-ferred to the very important testimony of Claude De Roche Francis, who told of his accidental eavesdropping in Mrs. Thomas's Pollard that he was sorry she had mentioned their engagement to the witness. At this point, Mr. Carlisle asked Judge Brad-

Alabama Democrats Are Glad to Hear of His Coming.

HE WILL MAKE SEVERAL SPEECHES

It Is Not His Purpose to Advocate Any for the Party.

Birmingham, Ala., April 9.—(Special.)—All if the people of Alabama were delighted when it was announced a few days ago that Senator John T. Morgan would come to Alabama to speak in behalf of the democracy of the state. Senator Morgan is closer than any living man to the masses of the people of Alabama. They love him for his purity and admire him for his brillance and knowledge.

The following letter from Senator Morgania of the people of Alabama.

for his purity and admire him for his brilliance and knowledge.

The following letter from Senator Morgan, which was received by Mr. Rountree, of The Hartselle Enquirer on Saturday, will give an usea of the senator's proposed programme while in Alabama:

"United States Senate, Washington, D. C., April 4, 1834.—Mr. J. A. Rountree, Chairman Democratic Executive Committee of Morgan county and others—Dear Sir: I could not be otherwise than deeply grateful to you and the large number of gentlemen who have joined in an invitation to me so address the people at Hartselle on the 21st of April. On that day I am engaged to speak at Montgomery. Then I will speak at Birmingham on the 23d on political topics, and on the 24th on the Nicaraguan canal and some kindred subjects. I will be very glad to spend the 25th at Birmingham with my old comrades of the confederate army. My time is so limited that I must decline an invitation of Governor Turney and others to speak at Nashville on my return to Washington.

is programme will admit of my being lartselle on Friday, April 27th, and you lartselle on second appropriement.

This programme will admit of my being in Hartselie on Friday, April 27th, and you will kindly make that announcement.

On Saturday, 28th of April, I would like to speak at Huntsville, and will do so if the connections on the railroaus admit of my being there at that time.

This is not an employment that will give me the rest I am much in need of, nor do I desire to use this time, which my sense of duty would require me to employ in my place in the senate, for my personal benefit. Neither is it a wish or purpose of mine-to advocate any man's claim to any office. What I intend to do is to present, in the best way I can, the reasons why I think that the people of Alabama should unite in cordial and earnest work to preserve and protect the security, honor and prosperity of our state, and to that end to adhere to and improve, to the extent of their power, those principles of government and that obedience to them, without which the worst results improve, to the extent of their power, those principles of government and that obedience to them, without which the worst results will fall upon them and their children. I have for so many years been received kindly by sur people in my efforts to serve them, and in my desire to take counsel with them, that I have no apprehension that they will impute to my present efforts any other design than to continue in that course. I will do this freely, without any dread of criticism or censure from those who have no higher sense of duty than to serve the ambittons of some political master. Yours very truly, 50HN T. MORGAN.

Fruit Crops Partly Killed-Some Tobacco Plants Saved.

Raleigh, N. C., April 9.—(Special.)—The first crop builetin of this year was issued by the state this evening. It says: doubtedly the peach crop is ruined, but there will be a sman yield of other fruits, especially apples. Grapes were badly da but will grow out again, producing some-ning like half a crop. A good many straw-berries were saved by covering, as were also some potatoes in the eastern districts. The loss of truck was very great. Seeding is weil under way and there is time for a good crop of wheat, oats and rye. Tobacco plants and clover were also more or less damaged by the freeze, notwithstanding there are many reasons for encouragement at the beginning of the season. The reports of correspondents show that the weather has not been favorable for the growth of crops, though favorable for farm work. Vegetation is now somewhat benind. The reports from the eestern districts say tobacco plants are slightly damaged. Huckleberries were destroyed. Wheat and oats suffered very little. These were worse damaged in the central districts than elsewhere, though they look badly in the western district. Tobacco plants were not injured in the western district. Some have replanted oats there." some potatoes in the eastern districts. The

THE DEATH ROLL.

Miles has been running a farm in the day time and working the wires at night, and it is presumed that overwork caused his death. Griffin, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—This morning at 1:20 o'clock Mr. Coleman P. Nall, of the firm of Nall & Bro., died after an illness of three weeks.

Mr. Nall was one of the best known men in this section and during the forty years of his life he had made many warm years of his life he had made many warm friends and a reputation that will long endure. He was an Odd Fellow and a Red Man and will be builed tomorrow at 3 o'clock p. m. A delegation from Warren Independent Order of Odd Fellows, of this city, will attend the funeral. He was a bachelor, but there was never a more chivalrous gentleman than he, whom all Griffin now mourns.

To the Editor of The World-Reading the press dispatches one would think that Governor Tillman had stolen his office and that the dispensary law was put upon the statute books by fraud.

The truth is that he was elected the first time because "the masses" were disgusted with the dishonesty and intolerance of the then governing class. He was elected the second time on account of his unimpeachable honesty and firm determination to carry out every law on the statute book. He ac-cused the previous administrations of dis-honesty and he proved it in his speeches, and even the very papers that opposed him gave accounts of how certain state officials were dishonest.

Now for the dispensary law.

WAS ENTERED AT THE LAST MINUTE

Bacing at Memphis Through Mud and Rain-Few Spectators on Hand. Favorites Were Not in It.

Lemphis, Tenn., April 9 .- E. T. McLean's colt, Jamboree, a late entry at 30 to 1, took the talent off their feet today by winning the Tennessee Derby with ease. The race was run in a river of water, which partly accounts for the surprising result. The rain was pouring at daybreak, and it continued to come down in sheets all day. As a consequence only the regulars had the courage to go to Montgomery park. The first and third events were fruitful for the bookles, while the second, fourth and fifth were won by well backed horses. Vassal was the pick for the Derby, with

Rhett Goode second choice and Buckrene E. T. McLean's pay gelding, Jamboree, by imported Gleneig. Linnett, a 25 to 1 shot, was entered at the last moment. When the flag fell the field moved out well together, with Rhett Goode showing first. Jambore was second, close up, followed in order by Vassal, Buckrene, Satellite, Bedford and Follow Day.

The spectators wildly applauded the mudbespattered coterie as they passed the stand, Buckrene a half length to the good, while Jamboree was at his saddle skirts, lapped by Vassal, Satellite and Bedford, sing the stand Jamboree and Buckrene were almost head and head; Satellite was third, and Vassal close up, with the others already apparently out of it. At the turn-ing for the run in, Weber began to work with redoubled efforts on Corrigan's colt, and he began to gain on the leaders. Jamboree, Buckrene and Vassal swung into the stretch two lengths apart. At the furlong pole it was evident to Thorpe on Buckrene and Weber on Vassal that the fight between their mounts was for second money and not the $3,130 hanging from the finish wire. Davis shook up Jamboree a bit, but it was hardly necessary, as the bay held his fast tiring competitors safe, winning handly by three parts of a length. Buckrene got the place, by a head, from Vassal. Beaford finished fourth; Satellite fifth and whett Goode sixth and Follow Day last. Cotton and Silver.

From The St. Louis Republic. Trade reasons are giving new strength to the bimetallist feeling in the United

Some of the economists of the many facturing states have only just found out that the silver-using countries are all coton-using countries.

The United States is a cotton-producing and a silver-producing country.

Our cotton manufactures have grown until they threaten to cut down the profits in the northeastern states unless wider markets can be found. And, even markets can be found. And, even with that, they do not use half the raw cotton raised by this country.

If we could establish an advantage in exchange over the manufacturing countries of Europe, our natural advantages in the cotton and silver business would give us supremacy in trade with Spanish America and Asia.

There is a great deal of enlightening truth in this view of the subject. The vis ta is a golden one—at outlet for our man-ufactures and a new exchange profit in disposing of our silver. In other words, a higher value for our cotton and metals.

"They should consider whether there is anything about an income tax so sacred, so desirable, so popular, so just and so deensible that its maintenance is worth the risk which they are precipitating. Let them emember 1860 and the ultra demands then made upon the democratic party, to which it could not honorably accede which led to our division and defeat. Let them remember the triumph of our opponents, the civil war that followed, the devastation, the sufferings, the humiliation which ensued, the military and carpet-bag governments which flourished, the force bills which threatened, and all the incidents of the terrible years which darkened our party's and our country's history from 1860 to 1884, when, through wiser counsels, moderate action, conciliatory methods and restored confidence, we were intrusted with power again, and reflecting upon all these things, let them say whether it is the part of wisdom, by the insistence upon these extreme gemands, to imperil the success of our party again, and thereby tend to retard the pro gress, diminish the glory and endanger the best and highest interests of our common country.

A Significant Silence. When Mr. Hill concluded there was ripple of applause in the galleries and on the republican side, but the democrats were ilent.

Not a man congratulated him. Not even a page went to assist him gather up his papers.

He walked out of the chamber alone. As he passed his colleagues they looked away. An Empty Threat Every democratic senator looked upon his speech as a dead, cold bluff. It was a play to the galleries, a play for leadership. It was such a bluff as some of the New Yorkers attempted in the house. There they declared the income tax would have to go or they would kill the bill. But the bill went through, and it will go through the senate regardless of Mr. Hill's threat. Still it must, in justice to Mr. Hill, be said that his argument against the income tax was perhaps as strong as could be made. His speech was a strong one, but its effect was detroyed by the threats he nade and the attempt to ridicule Mr. Voorhees and the senate finance committee for adding the income tax to the tariff bill. Mr. Hill, indeed, kicked square over the party traces, calling upon the democrats to follow him on or he would disrupt the party. But nobody seems to have had the temerity to follow him. Though Mr. Hill is a strong man, he clearly ever-played his hand today and has lost cast thereby. Read the Bill. Mr. Harris called for the reading of the tariff bill in extenso and Mr. Aldrich inquired as to the status of the bill. He was informed by the vice president that the debate thus far had proceeded by unaninous consent without the reading of the bill. Various questions were put to Mr. Harris as to his object in calling for the reading of the bill. He disclaimed that it was any part of his purpose to cut off any opportunity for offering amendments. When the bill has been once read," Mr. Harris continued, "every line of it is open to amendment, and then every senator will select the precise line or point at which he proposes an amendment." Mr. Aldrich suggested that instead of the bill being read formally as proposed by Mr. Harris, it should be read paragraph by paragraph and that amendments might be offered as the bill was read. That, he said, was the uniform practice in tariff and appropriation

As Mr. Harris persisted in asking that the bill be read in full, Mr. Chandler expressed the hope, sarcastically, that th senator from Tennessee would not be prevented from filibustering against the bill as he appeared to be doing. While the matter was still under discussion, without any prospect of arriving at any decision of it, a motion to adjourn was made by Mr. Manderson and was voted down: Yeas 13 (all republicans), nays 31. After some further consumption of time in fruitless discussion of the point as to how the bill should be proceeded with, a motion to proceed to executive business was made by Mr. Hale. On this motion no quorum voted. All of the republicans but two withheld their votes and the rest of the day's session was spent in plain, ordinary every day filibustering such as is frequently witnessed in the house, and with the same result. No business was done and an adjournment was forced at 6:20 o'clock. Not Strictly in Form Senator Hoar today called attention to the fact that Mr. Walsh's credentials were not in the regular order prescribed by the senate. The credentials were addressed to Mr. Walsh. The notice of his appointment should have been addressed to the senate. Mr. Hoar made no objection, but said in future credentials should be in regular

Doesn't Know a Good Thing. The house consumed today in district bus iness but tomorrow the fight over the postoffice appropriation bill will be continue The clause providing for the fast mail service from New York to Atlanta and New Orleans comes up. A strong fight is being made against this appropriation. It is led by Mr. Kyle, of Mississippi, who stands upon such an elevated plane of statesman ship that he fights fast mail facilities for his own section, holding that such appropriations are subsidies. Mr. Kyle has considerable following, but the best indication are that the appropriation will go through and the fast mail train will be continued. Marshal Frank Leverett, of the souther district of Georgia, is here on business with the department of justice in connection with his office. Colonel Martin V. Calvin, of Augusta, arrived this afternoon. Senator Harris says he is determined to rush the tariff debate along. He will attempt to force the senate to meet at 11 o'clock and sit until 5 o'clock p. m. each E. W. B.

SOME WANT A PRIMARY ELECTION

In the Past Delegates Have Been Chosen by Mass Meetings-Fresh Gossip on the Coming Senatorial Race.

Macon, Ga., April 9 .- Some of the people of Bibb county have commenced to discuss the time and method of electing delegates to the gubernatorial convention. It has always been the practice in Bibb to elect gubernatorial delegates at a mass meeting held at the courthouse, but there is a dis-position this year on the part of some to have a primary election at an early day. The democratic executive committee of the county has not neld a meeing to decide the matter. Hon. George W. Gustin is chairman, and he will doubtless call the committee together in ample season. He can always be relied on to do the proper thing at the right time. The contest in Bibb between Atkinson and Evans will be close, warm and interesting. Earnest efforts will be made to have a joint debate in Macon between Atkinson and Evans. The people are anxious to hear them. But should a joint debate not occur both Atkin son and Evans will make speeches here at Opposing the Tax.

The mayor and council have imposed a tax of $50 per year on each detective or each detective agency doing business in the city. This is a new tax. Ex-Lieutenant of Po lice C. W. Wood is doing a detective to be made to pay a license, as he works by the day and has no capital employed or invested. But if any license at all is right he thinks it should not be more than $10, the same as is exacted of professional men. He will petition the mayor and council to rescind the tax or place it at $10.

For the Senate.

It is generally thought that Bob Hodges may be a candidate for the state senate. Mr. Hodges ably represented Bibb in the lower branch of this legislature and his friends are anxious that he should advance a step higher and are willing to confer the honor upon him if he prefers standing for the senate rather than the house. Several other names are mentioned for the senate, notably Hon. N. E. Harris, Hon. J. L. Hardeman, Colonel Dan. G. Hughes and Washington Dessau.

It is not known if any of these gentlemen desire to go to the senate. The twenty-second district will be well represented no matter which one of them is elected.

On Hypnotism.

Tomorrow night at the Academy of Music, Mr. Claude F. Wright, of London, England, the learned and interesting theosophist, will deliver a lecture on hypnotism. It is not thought that Mr. Wright has a very exalted opinion of this power. His lecture will, no doubt, be as largely attended as the one he delivered yesterday afternoon on theosophy. The audience yesterday manifested much interest in Mr. Wright's theme. The Bonded Indebtedness.

The Bonded Indebtedness.

There is a bonded indestedness on Mulberry Street Methodist church of $6,000, which was incurred by remodeling the church. It is proposed to pay off this claim, and to do so the parsonage will be moved nearer to the church and two fine building lots will thus be obtained facing Mulberry street, and they will be sold, together with a third lot in the rear of the church, facing First street. These lots are the property of the church and they will sell for more than enough money to pay the bonded indebtedness.

Will he Retire?

Will He Retire?

The Constitution's correspondent was informed some time ago that Mr. B. M. Zetter, superintendent of the Bibb county public schools, would probably not be a candidate for re-election at the expiration of his present term, but would retire from school work and become the secretary and treasurer of a large building and loan association of this city, and also conduct an insurance business. Professor Zettler has not been ready for an announcement on the subject, as his plans are not yet definite and decided, but there is no question of his having the matter of his retirement from the superintendency under consideration. He has been the able, faithful and popular Will He Retire?

the superintendency under consideration. He has been the able, faithful and popular superintendent of Bibb's schools more than twenty years. He may conclude to be a candidate for re-election but the probabilities are that he will not. Should he not offer for re-election his successor will no doubt be Professor D. L. Abbott, the present zealous and efficient assistant superintendent.

A petition for charter has been filed in the office of the clerk of Bibb superior court by several well-known gentlemen who desire to form a turn verein at Ocmulgee park which will eclipse anything of the kind in the state. Cley pigeon shooting, ten pins and kindred amusements will be the features of the association.

goes. The contracting parties were Miss Annie Hurst, of Decatur, and Mr. Lewis Godbee, a prominent planter of Burke county. The church and altar were most beautifully and elaborately decorated for the occasion with evergreens and pot-ted plants. At the first note of Mendelssohn's march rendered by the exquisite touch of Mrs. Dr. Whitehead, Mr. Floyd Scales entered, followed by Dr. Sim Ellis. Then came Mr. Noble Berrien, and lastly Mr. Gus Cates. These gentlemen acted as ushers. The groom entered on the arm of Mr. James Whitehead, best man. The pretty bridesmaids came in in opposite alsles.

Miss Marion Whitehead wore a stylish suit of tan with duchess lace. Miss Louise Godbee was becomingly attired in blue with point lace. The bride was assisted by Miss Callie McElmurray, who was costumed in an elegant suit of heliotrope. The costume worn by the bride was of duchess satin, without ornaments, with hat and gloves to match.

An elegant wedding breakfast and reception followed at the handsome and attractive home of Colonel William Everett Jones, where smilax trailed from ceiling to floor, and beautiful flowers peeped from beds of fern.

The couple at once went to their newly-furnished home. They received many handsome and useful presents.

Savannah is too important a connection and too valuable a feeder to the Central for that road to ever let it get out of its control. After several months elapse, in which the interest has been forfeited, and the stockholders forced to take action Receiver Comer steps up and settles the trouble by paying the rental. This is satisfactory and causes the stockholders considerable anxiety and apprehension. The stockholders have recently been consulting about taking steps to get the road back since the December dividend was not raid when it became due, but they will hardly proceed further, having been satisfied by getting the money. Editor E. B. Hook, of The Chronicle, positively declines to be a candidate for council from the fourth ward to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Walter H. Lynch, who has resigned because of his going o move from Augusta to Clifton, S. C. Mr. Hook, under no consideration, will consent to the use of his name for that office.

Who will be the candidate for the unexpired term of a year and a half is the question now being asked. The names of Colonel I. C. Levy and Captain P. H. Rice are mentioned for the onice.

The names of Colonel John W. Clark and Mr. James Daly are also suggested by their friends.

Still another candidate is spoken of—Mr. Dan Kerr. It is said that if Mr. Kerr is not a candidate for mayor in December he will possibly be in the mayoralty race three years hence.

If such is the case he could run for the unexpired term of Mr. Lynch.

Gate of the Temple.

St. Paul's Episcopal church has been enriched by a beautiful and costly memorial. It is a gift from the two daughters of the late Dr. Flournoy Carter and is a memorial of three generations of the Carter family, erected by the fourth. The memorial includes the magnificent stone doorway, the great doors of old English oak, with their rich bronze decorations, the tessaleted floor of the baptistry and the stone stairs by which the doorway is approached. The design of this work was gotten in Italy. The memorial inscription is cast upon two bronze shields, which are fastened upon the central panels of the doors and are surmonted by the family crest and the Carter motto: "Purus Sceleris."

The ladies to whom St. Paul's church is indebted for this addition to its other beautiful memorials are Lirs. William L. Boyce, of Macon, Ga., and Mrs. St. John Moore, of Augusta, the great-grandchildren of the gallant Cantain Carter. It is a special memorial of their father, whose name is still remembered with affection in this community as one of the most brilliant physicians of his time.

Augusta, Ga., April 9.-(Special.)-The Augusta stockholders of the Augusta and Savannah rallroad are happy because the Central rallroad has declared an overdue semi-annual dividend on their stock. The Central has the Augusta and Savannah used and that is the dividend that should have been paid last December, but the Central claimed that the road had not earned the full amount of the rental. The payment of this dividend for nearly two years past has been irregular. In fact, the time between the settlements has been so long that the stockholders of the Augusta and Savannah have been uneasy more than cace about getting their interest and on several occasions they have gotten together and scared the Central into paying the rental by threatening to make application to the courts to break the lease and return to them their road. ATLANTA, GA., April 10, 1894.

Senator Walsh's Position Hon. Patrick Walsh, Georgia's ne nator, has been much discussed. Some of the cuckoo organs, with excessive suberviency to the strings that have their e ends in Washington, are troubled out Senator Walsh's tariff views, while thers are immensely troubled about his osition on the currency question.

And yet all this trouble is unnecessary is all borrowed. The new senator will ot eat dinner when the cuckoo clocks trike twelve, but will look at his own atch and wait for the democratic horn blow. In stating his position the her day, in response to a query from the Washington correspondent of The stitution, Senator Walsh summed up e salient features of the democratic latform as aptly and as concisely as sible. He said:

I am for the Wilson tariff bill. I am for an income tax. I am for the free coinage of silver, and I am for the repeal of the state bank tax. If I hadn't been I wouldn't

The facts are so pithily summed up at if Senator Walsh had talked on the bject a week he could not have made position clearer, nor could he have ade the situation in Georgia clearer Lis position is that of Governor Northen; is the position of the democratic party Georgia; it is the position of The Con-The new senator stands on the democratic platform, and is not in political sympathy with any element, high or low, that does not and on the platform.

The truth is that the democratic conion and law delivered at Chicago have become so important that those rgia democrats who have betrayed a ency to hunt for a remedy in the hird party have returned, or are about to return, to the democratic fold, conad that the true remedy for the evils th which they are burdened is to be nd in the application and operation democratic principles. They have overed that their real enemy-the ny of good government-is the ored money power of the east, which supported in congress by a coalition ed of the republican party and eastn democrats. This coalition, while weak in the house, is stronger on test tions than the democratic party, and more aggressive, since it is backed ences that the democrats thought

There is no safety for the people of orgia, or of the south, or of any secon of the country, away from democratic principles. The pledges and demands of the Chicago platform strike at very root of the evils with which people are burdened and oppressed. Senator Walsh was appointed by Govor Northen to the high office he holds se he represents the people of Georda and stands on the democratic platm-because he is not a trimmer, or a eman, but an honest, unadulterated ismocrat, with no disposition to dodge smallest pledge of the platform. And his office of senator he will represent people, the party and the platform, will make no sort of compromise th the elements that are arrayed nst the interests of the business mer and producers of the country.

The British in Central America. may be some truth in the report England contemplates establishing tectorate over the islands in front the gulf entrance to the proposed aguan canal.

As far back as 1850 the British enred to prevent the construction of unal under American control, and ed our diplomats into signing the ton-Bulwer treaty, which declares ither the United States nor Great in shall ever obtain or maintain any exclusive control, or fortify or colonize me or exercise any dominion over igua, the Mosquito coast or any t of Central America.

ir government has stuck to the terms treaty, but England has never reed it. She has established and mainined a colony in British Honduras, and a late as 1853 set up a legislature in province. Despite the Clayton-Bul-treaty the English have continued to and fortify the territory seized m more than forty years ago. Il this has been done by England in defiance of the Monroe doctrine, and in plain violation of a solemn treaty. And what has the United States done about it? Nothing-nothing whatever. When some insignificant power gets in our way our statesmen lose no time in demanding apologies and reparation, but when we meet the British lion in the middle of the big road we give him the right of way and say nothing.

One of our warships probably reached Bluefields yesterday. Two or three vessels should have been sent, and if the British make any attempt to seize the islands that will be needed for coaling stations at the entrance of the Nicaragua canal our naval forces should offer prompt resistance. Under the circumstances our government would be justified in nullifying the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, and our next step should be to enforce the Monroe doctrine by driving the English out of British Honduras.

This Means Business.

At their meeting yesterday afternoon the exposition directors consolidated the subscriptions so far in hand, and announced that the minimum fund of $200,-000 was in sight and that with but little more work permanent organization could be effected next Monday.

This magnificent exhibition of Atlanta's pluck, energy and public spirit cannot fail to make a profound impression upon the country at large. At the close of the longest and most disastrous period of hard times ever experienced in this region our citizens have rallied to the support of the exposition, and they are about to place it on its feet. All classes, from the laboring men, the fire department and the police to the richest capitalists have esteemed it a privilege to place their names on this roll of honor -the exposition subscription list.

There is pressing need of additional subscriptions, and our capitalists, corporations and well-to-do citizens who have not yet subscribed should now come forward voluntarily and aid our great industrial show.

This movement should arouse the most ntense enthusiasm among our people. It means that Atlanta has leaped from the valley of depression and is now climbing the heights of prosperity. It means the doubling of our wealth and population in the next few years.

No lover of Atlanta can afford to stand aside and take no part in the most important enterprise ever inaugurated in the south. Our people should rush into it as one man, and talk for it and work for it, and go down into their pockets whenever they have a dollar to spare.

Everything is moving along in splendid shape. A bill has already been introduced in congress providing for a government building and an exhibit, and it is safe to say that an overwhelming majority of congressmen of every party and every section will vote for it.

Still, we must not be over-confident. It is no time to relax our zeal or pause in our work. It will require large sums of money to get the exposition on a basis that will secure the active co-operation of the entire country and the countries south of us whose trade we are reaching out for, and a great deal of this money must be raised right here. Every dol lar subscribed will come back a hundred times over, and it will be the best investment ever made.

The outlook is bright, and almost before we know it the architects will have their plans drawn and an army of toilers will be at work adding their weekly wages to our local circulation.

And now let us get together and push the enterprise with that dashing energy which has in half a century transformed the little hamlet of Terminus in the woods into the metropolis of the new south!

Is your name on the list! If not, put it there at once. Permanent organization must be effected next Monday, and it cannot be done until the $200,000 is subscribed.

The preliminary canvass must be closed this week.

Again, is your name on the list!

State Bank Currency. The Washington correspondent of The New York Journal of Commerce says that Colonel Oates, of Alabama, and other democrats have been conferring with officials in the treasury department in regard to the repeal of the 10 per cent tax on state bank notes.

The correspondent puts something of a new face on the scheme. He says that Colonel Oates and the rest of those who have been conferring with Secretary Carlisle are in favor of retiring th "forced treasury notes"-whatever that may mean-and substituting for them an elastic banking currency. Yet we do not suppose that any democrat who understands the desires of the people or the intention of the platform recommen dation, is in favor of retiring the legal tender treasury notes. The people want more money, instead of less, and they want the treasury notes, which are good in all parts of the contry, to supplement the issues of state bank notes. The correspondent also says that Colonel Oates and those who have called on the secretary believe that "a proper banking bill will bring relief to the south, scotch the free coinage serpent, and take the currency question out of politics." One would judge from the free and easy manner of the correspondent that Colonel Oates himself had furnished him with the phrase in regard to "scotching the free coinage serpent," and in this he does the colonel an injustice In this climate we do not employ such blundering metaphors. If Colonel Oates made any remark of that kind he said "crush," instead of "scotch," but we don't believe he said anything about the "silver serpent." Certainly we don't believe he is in favor of retiring legal tender money and supplying its place with ordinary bank notes. If he is he ought to come right out and tell the people of street, which, according to Colonel Oates, has the country by the leg, proposes to benefits permit the people to enjoy the of a local currency, elastic enough to be responsive to the demands and pressure of business, well and good. But if the local currency is to be stripped of the greater part of its advantage by the retirement of the legal tender notes the people will at once conclude that it costs more than it comes to.

We have no doubt that Wall street has the treasury by the leg, but we have our doubts about its grip on the people. It may be able, owing to the surrender of certain democrats, to prevent remedial legislation. It may even be able, under cover to put through vicious legislation. but the rule of Wall street will end as soon as the people can be heard from at

So far as the repeal of the state bank tax is concerned, we repeat what we said vesterday: Let the democrats get together and repeal it. Then, when the repressive and oppressive statute is no longer a part of the law, those states that need a local currency can get it. On the other hand, those states that have no need for a supplemental currency will not find it necessary to take advantage of the repeal of the tax.

There seems to be a good deal of un necessary chatter on the part of those congressmen who are wedded to the interests of Wall street about "a uniform currency." But the people already have 'a uniform currency," and they have found that one of the evils of such a cur rency is that it flies to the money centers at the very time when there is the great est demand for it among the people away from the money centers. What the peo ple now want is to suppplement their uniform currency with a local currency which will not be drained out of the channels of trade and business when Wall street crooks its finger. This can best be done by the issue of state bank

Editor Medill's Discovery.

Editor Joseph Medill, of The Chicago Tribune, is confident that he has made an important discovery which will en able a prudent man to live one hundred and fifty years.

Mr. Medill has found that diet is not the principal thing to be considered. His studies have convinced him that lime is the main obstructionist of life. The wa ter we drink fills the system with lime Get the right sort of water, free fron this element, and the problem of longevity is solved.

Last year Mr. Medill began drinking distilled water and snow water. His rheumatism is cured, his digestion is improved and he has practically renewed his youth. He says:

The virtue of this water is not in its mineral properties, but in their absence, its absolute purity, in particular its freedom from lime. That is the substance, says he, that gets into the capillaries of the joints and stops the lubricating process that keeps the joints limber. It obstructs the capillary cells of the bar so that the the capillary cells of the hair, so that the pigments can no longer find their way through, and it becomes colorless—white Little particles of lime get into the cells of the stomach, of the bladder and kidneys and cause every form of indigestion an Bright's disease; they get into the heart and weaken its action. In fact, the whole process of growing old and wearing out is due to a superabundance of this white min-eral substance—a liming up, till finally a man lies down a brittle mummy a hundred years before his time.

The old journalist is in his seventyfirst year, but he feels that he has secured a new lease of life. He spent years traveling over Europe, visiting all the celebrated water cures. In this country he tried the hot springs, of Arkansas, In fact, he tried every known remedy for rheumatism, indigestion, general debility and heart disease, but he found no relief until he commenced using water entirely free from lime. There is one good thing about Mr. Me dill's theory. It will hurt nobody to test it. The man who drinks pure water with no lime in it will not be running any risk, and while he may not reach the one-hundred-and-fifty-year limit, he will probably prolong his life.

The New York Times publishes an editorial from The Macon Telegraph, under the heading, "Sentiment from the South." This is entirely misleading. The editorial referred to expresses the sentiment in New York,

Mr. Seifert's home-not in the south. Austria will soon draw on London for $18,-

000,000 of the gold now in the United States treasury. Senator Walsh, with true journalistic instinct, condenses the democratic platform into a very few words. The Washington correspondent of The New York Journal of Commerce ought not to say that Colonel Oates is in favor of "scotching the free coinage serpent" with a state bank bill unless the colonel has authorized him to make the statement.

It is thought that the art circles of the treasury department do not know the difference between the nude and the naked. On the other hand, maybe some of the artists don't know the difference.

Farmers should grow a good supply of stock feed this year. The late freeze has hurt oats in the west.

The movement to defeat the re-election of Senator Morgan in Alabama gave one little wriggle and died.

The republican office holders who have been holding over have thirteen months the advantage of the democrats who ought to be in their places. (

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

A Bowling Green, Ky., dispatch says: "The remains of the dead poet and hu-morist, Ben King, who was found dead in his bed at the hotel here yesterday, have been taken to St. Joseph, Mich., accon panied by the partner of the deceased, Opie Reed. Friday night at a supper given by the local press to Reed and King, one of the party, after all had been seated, remarked that there were just thirteen at the table. Mr. King, apparently very much excited, but evidently in jest, jumped up and declared he would not again seat him-self until another guest was provided and the unlucky number broken. This incident is taken seriously by the superstitious, also the fact that he recited his humorous poen the same night, entitled, 'If I Should Die Tonight.'

The Baltimore Manufacturers' Record publishes a list of the dividends paid dur-ng 1893 by thirty-two southern cotton mills perating in a number of different section of the south. The Record says that "the aggregate capital stock of the companies whose capital is reported in this list is 6,639,000, and the aggregate of divi 589,000, or an average of 8.8 per cent paid in dividends. This, of course, does not represent the full carnings, as most of these mills, probably all of them, laid aside a surplus for repairs and extensions. The larger mills generally declare a regular dividend of 8 to 10 per cent, and invest their earnings over that in the extension of their plant." In examining the list furnish-ed by The Record it will be seen that some of the small establishments paid dividends as high as 18 and 20 per cent, while 10 and 12 per cent payments were numerous. It is probable that many of the southern mills paying the largest profits refrained from furnishing their reports to the Baltimore journal, either through a desire to conceal the character of their business or to avoid complications with the tax assessors. The list of 232 establishment furnished by The Record is, nevertheless, of considerable interest, and cannot fail to excite favorable comment in the north, where southern inrestments are becoming daily more popular.

Causing the Trouble. From The Cincinnati Enquirer. In an interview with a representative of The Washington Post, which appeared in that paper on Wednesday, a member of congress expressed the following opinion: "Our business men can do nothing until the tariff bill has been passed. The results of yesterday's election are an expression of their dissatisfaction and others whose inerests are bound up with theirs, with the naction of the party on that matter-that and other things, I might say.' Without, at this time, discussing whether It is the inaction on the Wilson bill, or the fear that it may become a law, that contributed most to the sweeping disasters which befell the democratic party on Monday, we fully agree with the gentleman interviewed in regard to the general dissatisfaction of the rank and file of the demo-

The cratic party with "other things." "other things" may be thus summarized 1. The unfair course of the president on the silver question. He accepted the nomination on a platform favoring silver coinage and accepted the votes of the friends of silver coinage upon that understanding; but immediately after his election he became violent in his hostility to silver coin-

2. By the use of federal patronage and violent threats of hostility to all who should oppose him, he influenced the legislative branch of the government and transform ed the silver coinage majority into a Wall street majority. While this work was going on, the explanation was frequently given that the president's delay in calling an extra session of congress, in the interest of Wall street, was that the silver coinage majority had not yet been fixed by him for the gold side. When he felt sure that he had secured the representatives, he assembled congress, and, throwing aside all forms of propriety, shouted at it and goaded it as a farmer would an ill-broken ox team. In a speech delivered on the steps of the capitol in commemoration of the laying of its corner stone, he railed at the senate for debating the silver repeal bill, instead of voting forthwith for its passage, as commanded by him. 3. The silver purchase clause was repealed with the assurance that it was merely to make way for sounder legislation upon the subject of silver. Yet, when congress, pursuant to this assurance, passed a bill to coin the silver bullion now in the treasury, including the seigniorage-not adding an ounce to that already owned by the gov ernment-he vetoed it in a message assailing constitutional money, showing a purpose to join in the conspiracy to destroy the legal tender quality of the silver dollars in circulation and on hand, and winding up with a call upon congress to pile up a national interest-bearing debt payable in gold, for the benefit of brokers and money

4. Immediately after his inauguration he took active steps to strike down freedom in Hawaii and restore to life a dead mon archy of the vilest description. Knowing that the American people would not tolerate such an act of infamy, he endeavored conceal it from them and from the knowledge of congress, then in session. nethods he pursued in this placed the life of every American in Honolulu in imminent peril, and when he pretended to refer the whole matter to congress he did not cease his efforts to restore the ex-queen to power, despite her assurances that she would put Americans to death, and that she had no power to keep any promise which she might nake to the contrary. The president's Hawaiian enterprise has been stamped under fcot by the entire American people, without regard to party lines, and no one can now he found to advocate it.

5. The president secured control of the house mittee on ways and means, and made the democratic majority leave their committee room and meet at might in the treasry building, there to take orders for the framing of a tariff bill. The absurd Wilson bill was the result-a mosaic of protection and free trade, to both of which the ocratic party is opposed-which bill is the subject of derision and contempt at the hands of the great body of the American people, including a vast majority of the democratic party. Having passed it through the house under presidential whip and spur, the president's friends are now trying to buy its way through the senate by such amendments as are favorable to large individual interests. In its treatment of the tariff question, the administration and its imperial guard in the two houses have boldly sponged out the tariff plank in the democratic platform and thrown to the winds every precedent established by the demo-

6. By every method he could devise the president has sught to break down the constitutional barriers between the executive and legislative departments of the government, and to substitute his own will for that of congress.

7. By his course in the Hawaiian affair, and his hostility to government protec-tion for a canal through Nicaragua with the consent of that country, and his declaration of opposition to the extension of American interests in any territory or island not contiguous to the United States, he proposes an insular policy humiliating to the pride of the American people, and which they will reject with unanimity.

8. The president has persistently and systematically refused to recognize any obligation whatever to make his administration democratic.

These are among the "other things" which might be pertinently mentioned, in explaining the causes of the dissatisfaction among democrats throughout the country, and their failure to appear at the polls in numbers sufficient to make a respectable showing at the recent elections.

It is for democrats now to consider whether the president shall be endorsed at the coming congressional conventions, or whether the party will reassert its own policles and nominate congressmen who will adhere to them despite the president. There is no reason to hope that the president will change in any particular. On the contrary, there is every reason to believe anat he will improve every opportunity to further alienate from the administration the masses of the democratic party. There is not a word in this article that every democrat, in his own heart, will not say is true. The democratic party cannot be saved without plain talk concerning the president. The truth must be told of him to convince local party managers that he has made it impossible for his party to carry him. It is much to be regretted, but it is true, the president is not the party. The results of Monday's elections are symptoms of political gangrene in the administration for which the democratic party is unfortunately responsible. The actueness of the symptoms proves the necessity of immediate surgery, lest it extend to the vitals of the party. If the next house is to be democratic, it must be made so by the votes of those who have been most deeply offended by the president's course.

We do not say that the party should unload the president, but we do say that it should unload his vagaries, his anti-democratic policies, his autocratic methods, his subserviency to the gold kings, and his apparent contempt for the rightful authority of congress and for the will of the people It will be useless to ask the president to change. He knows how to change. He has undergone many changes since 1881, but every change has been for self-aggrandizement. An elephant was taught the trick of receiving money and placing it in a small box as high as his trunk could reach. A countryman, who had loaned him $5 for that purpose, asked the keeper of the animal to have him take it down again. The keeper said: "We have never taught him that trick." Mr. Cleveland has never taught himself to change in the direction of giving effect to the people's will, when he can as well have his own way. Party leaders will do well to waste none of their energy in efforts to make this a democratic administration. Let the party wagon be thoroughly overhauled and painted; loaded up with viands for a democratic feast: fix the place for the banquet, and name the hour for starting. Let it be free for all, from president to hodcarrier, and if either of them gets behind let him catch up with the proession as best he can. LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Thinks It Is Very Smart. Editor Constitution: I notice that Evening Journal today has the following from Washington:

rom Washington:

"Washington, April 9.—Senator Gordon, of Georgia, expresses the belief that his new colleague, the Hon. Patrick Walsh, although he does not like the Wilson bill and will seek to amend it, will vote on the bill as it is if he falls in that attempt. Others do not think so. Eight democratic senators are now mentioned as likely to vote against the Wilson bill if the income tax rider is not knocked out of the saddle."

It is very kind for Senator Gordon to anounce for Senator Walsh that the latter does not like the Wilson bill, and will seek to amend it, but if he fails will vote for it. But the writer wishes to inquire by what authority this statement is made? Walsh has announced time and again that he favors and will vote for the Wilson bill. Why seek, therefore, to discredit the candor of his statement, and to make it appear that if he votes for it he will do so under duress? Hurrah for Pat Walsh. He is a senator on whom Georgia may well depend to care for her interests. Just watch his record on the Wilson bill and everything else, and if it is not more fully up to the standard and expectation of the people of Georgia than that of Senator Gordon, then just write my name down as DENNIS

Wants Another Candidate. Macon, Ga., April 7, 1894.-Editor Con stitution: Recognizing the fact that The Constitution is a great paper, and while know it is strong in advocating the claims of General Evans for the dem ination for governor, yet I take the liberty of voicing the sentiment of a large number of the best democrats in this state that are not satisfied with the personal campaign now being waged in this state between General Evans and Mr. Atkinson. They do not differ as democrats. One charges the other with being the candidate of the At-lanta ring. The other is charged with being the candidate of certain solicitor gener als, judges and members of the legislature The state is being sawed up and down on these two issues. Now, I respectfully submit that this is not good for the den cratic party. If either candidate is nomi-nated there is enough that has been said by the friends of each to furnish a pile of ammunition for the third party people ab This is an off year in politics and the democratic party is greatly hampered al-ready by a split on the tariff and finan-cial issues. I have it from the very best authority that it is the purpose of the third authority that it is the purpose of the that party people to couple the prohibition issue with their other reform measures. This personal encounter is to continue until the first week in August, and if it goes on the it has the past month either candidate like it has the past month either candidate that is nominated will be branded all over as a ring candidate and the friends of the defeated candidate will be so sore that the will be at least indifferent as to the resul in October. The truth is, the discussion so far has furnished too much encourage ent to the third party leaders. Why should such men as William M. Reese, of Wilkes; James M. Smith, of Oglethorpe; James W. Robertson, of Haber-sham; Robert G. Mitchell, of Thomas; Henother good and true men who have devoted their lives to the democratic party, be ignored in this roll and the party be left o only two men? I call upon the people of this state who wish the democratic party ss in the future to call a halt, and when they send delegates to the gubernatorial convention to send good and true men as delegates who will come instri not as partisans for this man or that man, but as democrats working alone to democratic supremacy.

I tell you, Mr. Editor, the personal business is hurting the democratic party, not only in our state, but nationally. The party ought not to be handicapped by any man or any set of men. We ar confusion. The only people that are pleased at the outlook are the enemies of de racy. I see enough and hear enough to satisfy me that there is great dissatisfac-tion at the way this personal race is drifting. Let the counties when they send delegates be careful to select men as delegates who are not for men alone, but for measures. Let them come together, and, after looking over the field, select the man for governor who is best qualified to help the party. We have plenty of good material in the state. In my opinion this per-sonal question and cry of "ring" has about lified both men who at present want governor.

his race, will, in this connection, be read with interest, emphasizing as it does everything which the governor said. The letter is as follows:

"Washington, D. C., March 29, 1894.—To the Governor of Georgia, Atlanta, Ga. My Dear Sir: I am sorry to say that I recentially learned through some of your representatives here that there were certain colored agents now going over your state persuading the colored people to go to Liberia, or to the western portions of this country—all of which I am opposed to, for certain reasons, to-wit: First, because I have lived in the north twelve years. I discovered that the white people up north don't want the negro among them, after getting his vote to put them in office. Second, I am the former body-servant of the late Robert Toombs, ex-United States senator, and I have children in Georgia, and know from my extensive travels it is best for them to remain where they are, for today there is starvation all over the north among both white and colored laborers. My course of lectures will be—the south is the best place for the negro, and the time has come when he must unite with the white people of his section, by vote and otherwise, to build up what is best for the whole people; and to let well-enough alone and to be satisfied where they are.

"(REV.) GARLAND H. WHITE."

Among the prominent Georgians in the city yesterday were Hon. W. H. Davis, of Burke county, solicitor general of the Au-gusta circuit; Hon. Gus Fite, solicitor gen-eral of the Cherokee circuit, and Captain Rankin, the well-known representative of Gordon county. Although these gentle differed somewhat in their ideas as to the outcome of the different political contests which are supposed to be attracting the attention of the people, all three agreed upon one thing, and that is that people at large are taking very little interest in the gubernatorial race.

"It's very dull down our way," said Solicitor General Davis, "and so far nobody seems to have manifested any particular interest in the candidacy of either of the gentlemen. Of course, you know that General Evans has a great many frien our county and so, too, has Colonel Atkinson, but the people at large are not talking about 4t one way or the other,"

NOW TO ORGANIZE.

The Exposition Company Has Almost Reached the Point.

TWO MORE DAYS OUGHT TO DECIDE

As the Fund Ought to Be Made Complete by Thursday.

AN IMPORTANT MEETING YESTERDAY

At Which a Number of Good Subscriptions Were Reported-Notes and Inci-dents of the Meeting.

One more strong pull and the exposition

At its meeting yesterday afternoon the exposition board, after receiving reports from the different committees, passed a of the board the nucleus fund is clearly in sight, and that if those who have promwho should contribute puts his name on one of the exposition lists within the next two days, the board can then devote itself to matters other than this of raising money which has been necessarily the all-absorb

The subscription lists now in hand have been submitted to the revising committee, consisting of Mr. Romare, Mr. Peel and Mr. Haas, and that committee has been requested to make a report upon the status of the subscriptions by Thursday, when regular meeting of the board will be held. At that time this committee will say

It is sincerely to be hoped that the rebeen subscribed. It is very necessary that this should be the case, and it will be the case if those who have promised to contribute stand to their promises and if the doubtful ones come up to the rack in the

The reports received yesterday were very gratifying indeed. Several of them are worthy of special note. Among these is the subscription of the Atlanta Consolidated Street Railway Company, of $2,500; the Atlanta National bank, $2,000; the East Attanta Land Company, $1,000; The Atlanta Traction Company, $1,000; the Atlanta Home

Mr. Snotding's Visit to Washington. Mr. Jack Spalding, who went on to Washington in the interest of the exposition, made an interesting report of his visit.

"Our Georgia friends," said he, "treated me very nicely, indeed, and seemed to be as deeply interested in this matter as we ourselves are. I met all the members of the Georgia delegation in the house and have from all assurances of hearty support. speaker Crisp was especially kind, placing his committee room at my disposal and giving me much valuable advice. Congressman Livingston, of our own district, is heart and soul for the exposition, and as he is a member of the committee on appropriations, he can be of a great deal of value to us. Secretary Smith gave me every assurance as he had already given of his hearty co-operation in every way in his power. I did not succeed in seeing Senator Gordon, but I did see Senator Walsh, and he assurout I did see Senator waish, and he assat-ed me that we could count on him for At-lanta in every way in which it was possible for him to aid us. "Whatever you say," said he, 'for me to do, I will gladly do and do with all my might.' I found," continued Mr. Spalding, "that everybody knew of the exposition up there. I never knew of anything so well advertised as this is. One thing that impressed me particularly was the fact that everybody expects us to have a great big show, and believes that we will have it."

Mr. Spalding told of having drafted a bill accordance with the ideas of Speaker Crisp and Colonel Livingston, leaving the amount blank. He pointed out that one of the most important things to be done first was to secure the government's stamp of approval upon the enterprise. This, he says, is important, not only in securing direct aid from the government, but in giving the exposition the necessary standing to secure the co-operation of the other countries, whose active aid and participation is desired. He said that he believed that the affairs of the exposition so far as the securing of national aid was concerned, are in ex-cellent shape, and he gave incidentally some excellent advice as to the methods to be purued, which the board took under consideration and will act upon but which are not of interest to the public as yet.

Colonel Scruggs to Go to Washington. Colonel W. L. Scruggs, who has been was present, and on being called on, stated that in a few days he will go to Washington and would then call upon the representatives of all these states and present the matter to their consideration. He pointed out the ne matters of this kind, and that the exposition must be officially presented to their consideration at as early a date as possi-

"The Midnight Alarm" was presented at pleased andience.

The play is one of merit and held the attention of the crowd present from first to last. It is on the order of "The Still Alarm." The company playing "The Midnight Alarm" is a very good one, indeed, and the characters throughout acceptably taken. Mr. Smiley, as Harry Westmore, gave entire satisfaction in the role. CLEVELAND'S MINSTRELS.

They Will Open Their Engagement with a Matinee Today.

Today at 2:30 o'clock the Cleveland Minstrels will open their engagement of two performances at the Grand.

W. S. Cleveland, after attaining an enviable reputation as a minstrel manager, a reputation which has piaced him in the very front rank of amusement caterers, is now oning heatward going heat as far is now going backward, going back as far as 1492, for the costuming of his first part, which is a marvel of beauty and artistic elegance. Everything about the first part—scenery, costumes, etc.—will be 1492, except the performers, the songs and the jokes. The latest fad in specialties and novelties have been engaged by Mr. Cleveland and nothing has been left undone to make this visit the crowning triumph.

The usual street parade will take place today at noon. Manager Cleveland has always brought good minstrels here and judging from the criticisms found in the is now going backward, going back as far judging from the criticisms found in the various exchanges, theatergoers will not be disappointed this time, for his present company is said to excel all his previous efforts and a great treat may be expected tonight at the Grand.

Nat Goodwin Soon to Be Here. The engagement of Mr. Nat C. Goodwin will be one of the most important events of the theatrical season here. "A Gilded Fool" ran for eight weeks to crowded audiences at the Fifth Avenue theater in New York, one of the largest houses in the city, and was withdrawn at the height of its popularity, only because it was impossible to arrange for extending the run. The same record of crowded audiences was made in Boston and other places, where the play can scarcely fail of being a just one.

the play can scarcely fail of being a just one.

The play has a dramatic story running through it of sufficient interest to enlist the attention of the auditor and hold it until the final curtain fails on the triumph of "The Gilded Fool." The dialogue is bright and sparkling, and the situations and stage business are ludicrous and effective. The play, while immensely funny, is not a farce; it is comedy of a high order, and some of the scenes are intensely dramatic. Mr. Good win has opportunities to demonstrate fax versatility as an actor by doing some serious dramatic work, which serves as an admiratole foil to the comedy of his part, and he shows that he is equally at home in the field of pathos and humor. He moves his audience to tears, only to brush them away by a sudden sweep of hilarity. The play is full of good parts, in addition to that of the comedian himself.

Macon Will Be in Atlanta to Take the Game from Sallivan if She Can.

THE NEW GROUNDS WILL BE DEDICATED

The Game Yesterday Between Atlanta and the Baltimores Shows the Atlantas Are Stronger Than People Thought.

The Southern Association of Baseball Clubs will begin battling for the pennant

The Atlanta team will open at home, and the new ball park, the prettiest in the south, will be formally opened. That there will be a large throng of peo ple out to see the first game of the season goes without saying, and that the game will be one worth seeing no one doubts. It is the Macon team with which Atlan ta opens, and the old-time rivalry between the two cities will not only fill the grand stand with Atlantians, but scattered about in the comfortable seats will be a large sprinkling of Macon people who are anxious to see the team representing that city go against Atlanta. So much has been said about the new park that many Atlantians will go out for the purpose of seeing that, as much as the game of ball that is to be played. The game, too, will be a good one, and Manager Hoggins has already promised the Macon fans to carry back a scalp or two. His team is considered one of the strongest and best in the league, and Manager Sullivan is not at all easy over the coming battles. Manager Sullivan has a good team-one with which those who have seen it are satisfied-and when it prances out for the opening day it will be to win.

Before the game there will be a street parade of the two teams in carriages. The Macons will come out in their new uniforms, and in carriages will be escorted around the city by the Atlantas, the entire outfit being headed by a brass band. IT WAS A TIE GAME.

The Atlantas Make a Strong Showing

The new baseball park was thrown open to the public yesterday afternoon.

And it was quite a throng that saw the first game on the new diamond and from the prettiest grand stand in the south. It was a good game, too, the people saw and it was a game they enjoyed. It was enjoyed because the strong Baltimore team, one of the bidders for the pennant in the National League, was not able to defeat the Atlanta team.

The men Hanlon has gathered around him are among the best players the big league knows and for the past two weeks they have been working hard through the south preparing for the opening of the season. That the youngsters Ted Sullivan has secured for Atlanta should be able to work out a tie with them was glory enough for the Atlanta fans who looked at the game from the grand stand, the bleachers and the porticos of the residences about the new

Had the weather been clear it is probable crowd, as the game was all the talk of the morning.

The game opened before a good crowd, however, and with the Atlanta team at the bat. Manager Sullivan's first man up was Butler, the Georgia boy who is show ing himself to be one of the best ball players in the country. It was Inks, the great left-hander of the Baltimores, the same man who has been with the Brooklyns, that Butler faced, but the great reputation of the tosser did not terrorize the Cracker, and the second ball Inks let go was smashed on the nose for a long drive into right field, but fortunately for the Baltimores Brodle got under it in time to save it from touching the ground. Gliman, the second man up, got his base on balls, but went out on a double play from Brodle to Brouthers when Ryan flew out to right. McGraw opened the stick work for Baltimore and went out on a foul fly to Ryan. Chard was in the box for Atlanta, and as it was his first show up, he was ciosely watched. He handled himself in fine shape and sent the ball over the plate with a precision that pleased all. Keeler, who followed McGraw, and who is considered one of the best batters on the Baltimore team, hit right straight to Chard, who threw him out at first. Brodle drove a ball into left and Ashenback caught the crowd by the manner in which he took it in. It was a great catch and made the left fielder a prime favorite with Atlanta.

Atlanta started the run-getting in the second. After Ashenback had gone out on a foul fly to McGraw, Bolan, by good waiting, got his first on balls, and was sacrificed to second by Hollahan, and a pretty sacrifice it was. Boyle came along and secured the first hill of the game, a hit a foul fly to McGraw, Bolan, by good waiting, got his first on balls, and was sacrificed to second by Hollahan, and a pretty sacrifice it was. Boyle came along and secured the first hit of the game, a hit which made Clarke, Brouthers and Hanlon angry. But that hit sent Bolan over the plate and gave Atlanta the first run of the game. Chard's strike-out, however, left Boyle on first.

Brouthers opened the second for Baltimore, and as he stepped to the plate every one expected to see him line it out in great shape. He tried hard to meet the expectations of the crowd, but two of Chard's balls were missed wildly by him and he was in the nine hole when his bat caught the last ball. That ball, however, went straight to Chard, by whom Brouthers was thrown out at first. Kelly came next and astonished every one by getting a two-bagger after two strikes had been registered against him, but he was left on second by Reitz's out from Chard to Ryan and Bonner's fly-out to Ryan.

The third brought Atlanta's expectations high. Lewse, the young third baseman, knocked out a pretty hit and went to second on Butler's present of a base by Inks. Gilman's sacrifice sent both men a base further, and then both came home on Ryan's two-bagger—a two-bagger, too, which made Ryan a prime favorite. Ashenback followed with a long drive to Brodie and went out. Then Bolan got his base on balls, but was left at first by Hollahan's fly-out to Bonner.

That score made the Atlanta fans feel mighty good, but when, in the next inning, the Baltimores piled up four runs, the feelings changed somewhat.

Clarke opened the inning with a nice single and was sent to second when Inks was given his base on balls. McGraw his straight to Ryan and of course, went out. Keeler came along with a single and Clarke sorie, this coin to third. By a fumble Ryan made Brodie get his first and then Brouthers came along with a single and clarke over the plate. Kelly go' his base on balls and everything was looking blue for Atlanta when Reitz struck out and Bonner flew out to did.

A hit by Clarke in the fourth, a base on halls to Inks, which forced Clarke on a base, a fly-out to Gilman and a sacrifice by Keeler gave Baltimore one more in that inning, with Brodle on second and Brouthers on first, both of whom had gone there by bases on balls.

But this was the last rup the Baltimores

But this was the last rup the Baltimores got Chard had shown himself a little wild during that inning, but the ball was wet and scany and Manager Sullivan decided to make a change. In addition to the condition of the ball Conley, who was umpiring, allowed nearly the entire Baltimore team on the coaching lines and they gave the boy the rattles. The Baltimores are known the leacue eyer as the noisiest lot of players in the country and it is more than one veteran their coaching has knocked silly in his box work. Chard, however, stood the work well, but it was evident to all that it was having its effect and the crowd was pleased when it was seen that Manager Sullivan had made the change in the fifth. Manager Hanlon saw the change and, fearing, defeat, followed suit, putting in that veteran, Tony Mullahe, while the kid, Keenan, was offted against him.

Butler, Gilman and Ryan were the three batters who faced Mullane and neither were able to do anything with him. The first hit a slow grounder to Bonner and was thrown out to Brouthers, while the second flew out to Reitz and the third fouled out to Brouthers.

Keenan, the kid, faced for the first man Reitz, one of the best hitters the Baltimores have and struck him out. That one feat made Keenan stock go away up. The next man, Bonner, hit a short fly to Gilman and was caught out. Clarke got hit on the arm and took his first, after a lot of

What Is Thought of the Team.

The showing the team made pleased all of those who saw its work. That there is some good material in it, there is no doubt. The Baltimore team has now tackled every team in the Southern League and has been defeated but once, and that only one game. Hanlon came to Atlanta expecting to pull out easily, but he was fooled, badly fooled. He was amazed at the showing the youngsters made against his men, and so said last night. Manager Hanlon is carrying eighteen men with him, and his team i looked upon as one of the strong quantities of the big league this season. He is bold enough, too, to say that he thinks he has a chance to pull (swn the pennant. Along with the team are Mr. Anderson, of The Baltimore Herald, and Mr. Dorcey Gut, of The Baltimore Sun. Both of these gentlemen do the work for their respective papers, and both have been watching the play of the men since they left home.

"We have," said Mr. Anderson, "the making of the better the better the making of the play in the better the part of the page of the better the page of the better the page of the page of the better the page of the page he have, said Mr. Anderson, "the making of one of the best teams in the big league, and we are hopeful of pulling up into a good place. We have been watching the men play since they left home, and we are thoroughly pleased with what we have seen. Some of them are a little rusty yet, but I think they will be all right in a yet, but I think they will be all right in a day or two."

"Which is the best team you have seen since you came south?" as asked.

"Well, I don't know. That team in Mobile is a mighty fast one, and is going to make the best of them move. The fielding and the hitting is particularly strong, and all the men are quick on their feet. But Jake Wells might get a move on and get some better pitchers than he now has. The New Orleans team is a good one, too, and Campau has some excellent box material around him. In my opinion it is about a pull off between the two with the chances in favor of New Orleans."

"How is Macon?"

"Good as far as it goes. But the team in favor of New Orleans."

"How is Macon?"

"Good as far as it goes. But the team was not complete when we left there. We had to lend them some players, but what they have are good."

"How do the Atlantas strike you compared with the others you have seen?"

"It is not as heavy as some of the southern league teams, but there is excellent material in it, and if the men play together as they have played this afternoon, it will be a hard team to down. That kid, Keenan, appears to be a comer, and his work is excellent. Chard is good, too, and the man who can stand what he stood this afternoon must be a good one. Why this Baltimore club will rattle almost any old pitcher to say nothing about that kid. He is good and has a remarkable delivery. Still, I think Keenan his equal. As for that long Ryan on first, he is hard to beat, and can cover the bag in great shape. In fact, there are few men who can do the work better. That youngster on third is good, too, while you have a jewel in the left field. That Butler looks like a good ball player, and his work shows that he is one, too. Watch and see if he isn't. As for the rest of the team, I think they are all good."

The lovers of the sport who were out yesterday were well pleased with the work the men put up.

"I don't think," said Mr. Jim Lynch, "that the town't are heaven."

restorday were well pleased with the work the men put up.
"I don't think," said Mr. Jim Lynch, "that the team is as heavy as the one we had last year, but I believe that I had rather have it. The men seem to go into the game with a vim and determination to win, and I see there is more than one man who is going to make a good ball player. I like the team, and am willing to pin my faith to it.
"That team." said Mr. Gus Ryan, "Icoks to me like the men wanted to play ball and if I am right, it is the team I want to see work. That Keenan is certainly a honey and I am willing to stand by him, but I don't know that he is any better than Chard, excent that he is cooler. The team might be heavier, but I am satisfied. The Ryan, by the way, is beginning to his one."

"That's the best game of ball I have seen in Atlanta in many a day," said Mr. Steve Postell. "Sullivan has a good crowd of youngsters amout him. and it would be hard for me to express my choice."

"I'm more than pleased," said Mr. Watter Crosby. "Those boys are going to play a mighty good game of ball and I think Atlanta will make a showing with them."

"Just leave Ted Sullivan alone." said Mr. Ed Messick. "and he will work the kinks out of them and make a good ball team out of them. See if he don't?

"I look upon the team as one of the best playing crowds Atlanta has had in some time." said Manager Al Marshall, "and I would not be surprised to see them land away up there. There are some mighty good men on that team, and don't you forget it."

It was a quarter-past 8 o'clock when the show began. Mr. John Thompson, the humorist of the union depot, was first on the programme, and he gave a clever musical act of three miuntes' duration. Mr. Thompson came upon the stage clad in a bright pink costume, cut a la mode, with flowing sash and painted cheeks. His appearance set the crowd roaring, and when with Paderewski gyrations he commenced to grind out divine music, the audience was held spell-bound. Mr. Thompson worked them up to a grand climax and in the very midst of it some one threw a buch of roses at his feet. He rose, bowed gracefully and left the piano playing tunefully. It was an electrical piano.

He was widely encored, but did not re-

Then the real show began. After about Then the real show began. After about ten minutes the curtain rose, revealing a typical courtroom. High up on his judicial throne sat the judge of the trial, Hon. J. A. Anderson. To the left sat the jury, while the attorneys, Messrs. Thomas Corrigan, Charles A. Read, Walter Howard and Will Elack, occupied the center. Mr. Will J. McBride. occupied the center. Mr. Will J. McBride the court clerk, sat at a desk immediately

The court was opened in the usual formal way. Bailiff Jones, in a striking costume. typical of the real Georgia bailiff, rapped loudly for order and the trial Shortly after the proceedings began a sensamake-up was remarkably clever and up to date. He wore a light polka dot silk dress, cut low and gayly ornamented. A high, wide, deep hat, exhibiting an enormous range of red lining, towered upon his head. Over his shoulders he wore a mantle tha cost $400, and which was kindly loaned by Mr. High. As a female, both in point of figure and general beauty, Mr. Johnson was a huge success.

Shortly after Mr. Johnson's debut, Mr. John Thompson came upon the stage and elicited another burst of applause. Later Mr. Julian Harris, most of appliance. Later Mr. Julian Harris, most natural and life-like in the costume and character of a female theosophist, brought down the house by his appearance. His costume was close-fitting and ultra in style. The three remales were heartily cheered on their appearance and continued in high favor throughout the entire performance. The farce proceeded after the usual con-ventional style of court trials, except that it was interspersed throughout with the trightest wit and keenest humor. Mr. Ed Calloway, in the character of Kohinoor Beauclerc, was the first witness, and he was one of the hits and surprises of the even-ing. He wore a suit of clothes that seemed to have been borrowed from George Wilson for the occasion, and his testimony was bright and catchy from start to finish. He was responsible for many a hearty laugh. His very appearance made his part a success, but when he gave in his characteristic testimony the andience was perfectly convulsed. He was summoned for the plaintiff, but turned out to be as much a witness for the defense. His negro dialect was warmly and enthusiastically applauded, and when he descended from the stand he was given a hearty round of applause. Mr. John Thompson made a bright and charming witness as the central telephone girl, whose heart had been broken by hearing the voice of Judge Andy Calhoun. This pathetic event occurred under a strawberry bush at Ellenwood, according to the witness. He testified further that the voice of Judge Andy had burned out a telephone.

Judge Andy's statement was as full of humor as the judge could make it, and that is saying a great deal. He told about his cheerless married life in a way that was simply inimitable, and when he came to speak of the defendant's cold feet he made a practical demonstration of his statement by calling for a bucket of water. This was brought and the wife applied her feet to

On the stand Mr. Joe Johnson was as successful as he always is. He was as nat-ural and as full of female individuality as a real female could possibly have been. He successfuly mimicked all the little nerisms of women, and once or twice with great effect. His usual brightness and inmitably sparkling wit did not desert him, and he entertained the audience with such great success that he was greeted with a deafening ovation. His acting throughout the play was worthy of his genius.

In the jolly German character which he essayed Ed Brown's best friend would not have known him. His face was glowing with the after effects of beer, and his aldermanic stomach was much in evidence. He became wildly excited and attempted to make a speech under the illusion that everybody that visited the courthouse indulged in this weakness. His role was a highly successful one.

NEW YORK, April 9.-The stock market NEW YORK, April 9.—The stock market started out firm this morning, and in the early transactions Sugar moved up 1% to 2%, and the general list advanced about 36% per cent in sympathy. A selling novement in Chicago Gas, which carried that stock down 62%, put an end to this 4000 recling for the time being, and led to a recession right shrough the list. London did not figure in the market to any extent, and at the same time the demand for and at the same time the demand for stocks for home account, which was such a pronounced feature of last week's speculation, was lacking. The bulls felt the loss of these orders, but their opponents were evidently not in a position to take advantage of this. They made ...etr attack on Chicago Gas at the opening of the session on the legal troubles which are expected to follow the decision in the quo warranto proceedings, but did not follow it up in other parts of the list. In the afternoon a firmer tone prevailed, probably owing to Washingparts of the list. In the afternoon a limber tone preyailed, probably owing to Washington rumors that an amendment to the interstate commerce law will be introduced permitting pooling by the railroads. NEW YORK, April 9.—After repeated attacks to break the price of St. Paul and Rock Island room traders gave up the contest and beaun to cover their shorts along the line. The close was made at a substantial rally from the lowest point. A good demand for low-priced Industrials was also developed and General Electric and Sugar showed the most strength, while Distilling and Cattle Feeding and Lead were neglected. American Tobacco was a strong feature and advapced on the execution of a number of investment orders. Gas was firmer in former dealings in spite of the intimation from the west that the attorney general's decision will be against the trust. Cammack brokers raided Western Union, but found supporting orders and room traders then shifted to the long side of the stock when they found that it was becoming scarce in the loan market. The strength of Richmond Terminal was maintained on purchases by leading commission houses. It is intimated that Judge Goff will sign the order of foreclosure of the Richmond and Danville before the end of the week! Jersey Central was higher just before close on the lappearance of orders from inside interests, but which failed to be executed because the limits were below selling price. Atwood Violett & Co's. Cotton Letter. By Private Wire to J. C. Knox, Manager. NEW YORK, April 9.—The market has presented no new feature today except to show that the interior stocks are still being reduced, and as their shipments are to the ports it helps to swell daily the movement there. Liverpool opened and closed about 1-64d better than Saturday, with spot sales of 10,000. The port movement so far this week is 19,009, against 25,800 last year. We shall probably receive 48,000 bales for the week, against 52,000 last year. The market continues inactive owing to the unsettled condition of everything because of the uncertainties of the tariff legislation. There are some indications of trade improvement in this country with a resumption of operations in cotton mills and a better demand for American spinners. In Great Britain, however, we find the condition of the cotton trade is most excellent. The export of yarns for the month of March was 19,000,000 pounds, against 16,500,000 pounds last year, and for the whole season so far 56,316,500 pounds, against 44,600,000 pounds last year, and for cloths the exports have been 474,000,000 yards for the month of March, against 374,300,000 yards last year, and for the whole season so far 1,403,882 yards, against 1,100,600,000 yards last year, showing how lorgely her trade has increased in cotton goods with the East Indies and South America, thus explaining the large increase of consumption over the amount estimated by Mr. Ellison. We can but believe there is nothing to do but to bring to the attention of our readers the necessity for an avoidance of increased acreage this year. It requires neither a volume of figures nor any extended illustration to prove not only the folly, but the great and positive injury of a larger surplus of the next American crop than what will be realized out of the crop ending August 31st next. The European spinner is particularly and anxiously looking forward to what the government will recort as to the amount of increase in cotton acreage this Atwood Violett & Co's. Cotton Letter. Hubbard, Price & Co.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Summary of Hubbard, Price & Co.'s cotton letter: Attention is called to the wonderful showing made by returns published today in London of the exports of cotton goods for the month of March and for the season from the 1st of January as an indication of the extent of the revival in business in England, particularly as it affects the Manchester market. The export of yarn for the month amounts to 19,000,000 pounds, against 16,500,000 for the same month in 1893 and a total for the first three months of 56,000,000 pounds, against 44,000,000 pounds in 1893. In cloths the exports for the month aggregate 474,000,000 yards, against 374,000,000 yards last March, and for the season the quantity of cloth exported is 1,404,000,000 yards, against 1,160,000,000 in the spring season of last year. The markets of America are at a standstill. The temper remains pessimistic and cannot see any improvement in price in the face of the reports of increased acreage which are received from the south. In the absence of speculation we must look to the actual demand to establish prices and that demand seems sufficient to prevent any decline, and in our opinion will finally bring about an advance, as the accumulated wants of the American spinner makes itself felt upon the small supply remaining in this country. The market closes barely steady about 3 points under Saturday as a result of realizing sales. Hubbard, Price & Co.

CHICAGO, April 9.—Wheat traders show an inclination to keep in sight of land as much as possible. Today's market was a strong one. It was conservatively so, however, as should such an 'emergency as a bearish government report be issued tomorrow, the bulls have no desire that all avenues of escape should be cut off. The start was weak. May wheat opened to 1½c lower than it closed on Saturday at 62½c, closing ½c to ½c over Saturday, at 63½c. Cash wheat was duil and dragging. dragging.

Corn was remarkably strong today, independently of wheat. May opened at 384c, sold between 384c and 384c, closing dechigher than Saturday, at 384c to 38%c. Cash corn was in fair demand and in limited Supply.

Oats maintained the strong tone that was a feature of the market last week. In this they were assisted by a sympathetic firmness derived from wheat and cord. At the close May oats showed a net gain of the for the day. Cash oats were firm and the chicker.

for the day. Cash oats were firm and 22c higher.

Provisions were strong. Offerings were remarkably scarce whilst the demand was of unusual volume. A higher hog market as well as the better grain markets were the influences in the advance. There was a good shipping demand. Receipts were small and shipments good. Foreign markets were steady and domestic strong and higher. May pork closed 47½c to 50c higher, May lard 25c higher and y ribs 22½c to 25c higher.

Lamson Bros. & Co's Grain Letter. By Private Wire to J. C. Knox, Manager. CHICAGO, April 9.—This has been another day of intense nervousness on the part of the traders. The opening was very weak, May declining to 62½c. Cables were very weak and the elements appeared right for a general rain over Kansas. This weakness lasted but a few minutes, however, A large trader began to bid for wheat, but he found offerings so scarce and the crowd so anxious to join him that prices very quickly advanced ½c per bushel, remaining around 63c for some time, when another spurt carried it to 64½c. This brought out realizing orders again and depressed values 1c per bushel, at which point there was a slight recovery. The visible supply figures show a decrease of 636,000. This decrease for the past two weeks has been a little disappointing, and it appears that the ratio will need to be a little larger in order to satisfactorily decrease on the larger visible supply before the new pears that the ratio will need to be a little larger in order to satisfactorily decrease on the large visible supply before the new crop comes in sight. Indian wheat shipments for the week were quite light—199,090 bushels, against 420,000 last week. Exports were small. Primary receipts were fairly liberal. Tomorrow being government report day, there is considerable interest felt as to what the figures will be on the condition of winter wheat. Some estimate about 150,00. On April 10th last year the condition was 77.4 with a total yield of about 275,090, which was 17.4 with a total yield of about 275,090, and a condition during the entire season of not over 77.7, which was in July. Therefore, a condition around 85 would appear rather bearish. But there will be liberal orders to buy should the market decline on a bearish government report.

Provisions have been very strong. Hog receipts were again under the estimate with hogs 10c higher. The whole line was in good demand.

The formed Struction.

From The New York Daily Stockholder. Nature, for three years unremitting in its aid to the bears in wheat, has at last ranged herself on the side of the bulls. In and the country raised 650,000,000 bushels; in 1892 the country produced 550,000,000; last year, 450,000,000; total, 1,650,000,000 bushels yards, against 1,160,000,000 in the season of last year. The markets of America are at a standstill. The temper remains pessimistic and cannot see any reputs of increased across which is the absence of speculation we must look to the actual seems sufficient tab prices and that demand advance, as the accumulated wants of the American spinner makes itself felt upon The market closes builty in the country, points under Saturday as a result of realizing saies.

Riodan & Co's. Cotton Circular.

NEW YORK April 9—(Special)—The cotton market today showed little discheding the past week. Liverbook and then remained pretty opining prices and the process opining prices and process opining prices and process opining prices and process opining prices and process opining prices anotation opining prices and process opining prices and process opi result attained on the basis of exports and crop movements, and after making due allowance for the government's underesti-mates. The great harvests of 1891 and 1892

creased. On the other hand the interior movement of all cereals was materially larger than week before last. At Chicago, however, the arrivals daily fell far below the deliveries of a year ago. In the northwest, except on Wednesday, receipts were nearly up to those of 1893.

Corn was dull all the week and responded very slowly to the advance in wheat. Cause: Heavy receipts. The latter were maintained on a scale which disgusted the bulls, though the latter kept on reiterating the assertion that receipts would soon "fall off." Oats, like corn, were dull, but the crop has been damaged; the statistical position is bullish and they are a purchase to hold. The flour market has been stronger of late, following the advance in wheat, but buyers have pursued a very conservative course, not being disposed to put confidence in the market. Asking prices on flour have been quite generally advanced, but this advance has not been followed except in a small way.

By private wire to J. C. Knox, manager-The Kansas state report makes the area, after plowing up, 3,000,000 acres and condition 75. This would make a yield, if naintained to harvest, of 39,600,000 bushels.

The weather map shows rains everywhere except in Kansas. It rained at Kansas City. There is a trace at Dodge City. Wichita was clear Sunday and was not reorted on Wednesday. With these excep-ions Kansas seems to be as badly off as ever. There are heavy rains through Misouri, Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska.

Receipts of wheat, car lots—Minneapolis, 366, against 445 last year; Duluth, 102, against 47; Chicago, 86, against 352. Total 554, against 846 last year.

The Kansas state report turns out much more bullish than private wires reported on Saturday-3,000,000, instead of 4,000,000; condition 75.5, yet cables are undeniably weak. It looks as if drought talk would soon be at an end. The weather makes everybody uncertain.

A big seller of May wheat has been Murray Wilson, presumably selling long wheat. Chicago stocks now are-Wheat, 21,322,000 bushels; corn, 9,942,000 bushels.

Corn is firm on the generally wet weather with prospect of reduced receipts. Clearances from the four leading Atlantic ports are: Wheat 69,243 bushels, corn 135,-804, oats 15,068, flour 33,143 barrels. Visible supply-Wheat decrease 696,000 bushels, corn decrease 1,048,000, oats 508,000. The spurt in wheat was caused by buying by Pardridge. He tried to get some and the market was taken away from him. The market was very nervous.

The government prediction of fair weather for tomorrow for Kansas started buying. Eastern Kansas has had showers, but the rest of the state none, and the immediate prospect seems to be passing away. Total clearances-Wheat 69,000 bushels, flour 24,000 barrels, corn 135,000 bushels, oats

15,000 bushels. Wheat and flour equal to 178,000 bushels of wheat. Primary market receipts of wheat 465,000 bushels, against 645,000 for the same day The point is that the government figures on the condition of winter wheat today will be around 85, against 77.4. Outside markets are very dragging. St. Louis is 5c under, with May there 58%; New York is only 2½c over. St. Louis has been the heavy seller of late.

The light run of hogs with higher prices at the yards opened provisions very strong. There was no pressure whatever to sell prices were bid up very rapidly without any sales.

IN CONFERENCE.

This City Tonight,

"Our Divine Humanity."

The ninth annual conference of the Unitarian church in the south will convene tonight, at 8 o'clock promptly, in the Church of Our Father.

This distinguished body of men, gathered from all parts of the country, will be in session for three days, and the exercises of the conference will be full of interest to all who attend who attend.

Rev. C. K. Jones, of Louisville, Ky. will preach the conference sermon this evening.

Mr. Jones is one of the leading ministers of his denomination, and is a man of acknowledged ability, as well as of distinguished reputation. The subject of his discourse tonight will be "Our Divine Humanity," and a sermon of great power is antisipated.

This will formally open the exercises of the conference.

Tomorrow morning a number of interesting addresses will be made and several instructive papers pertaining to church work and denominationa theology will be read and discussed during the session.

Tomorrow night the discussion will be continued, and the following subjects will be ably treated: "The Religious Education of the Young," "The Liberal Church League" and "The Extension of Liberal Thought."

These will be discussed by Messrs. Thayer, of Cincinnati; Pierce, of New Orleans; er, of Cincinnati; Pierce, of New Orleans; Chaney, of Richmond; Jones, of Charleston, and Russell, of Chattanooga, Tenn.

The conference will close on Thursday with a general mass meeting, at which time a number of important subjects will be discussed. Among these will be "Co-operation Among Liberals," "Reciprocity Between Different Religions" and "Christian

This discussion will be conducted by Messrs. Free, of Chattanooga; Whitman, of Charleston; Weld, of Baltimore; Jones, of Louisville, and W. R. Cole, of this city.

In this connection it will be of interest to note the growing importance of this to note the growing importance of this denomination of the Christian religion. It is recognized as a potential factor in the re-ligious world, and the intelligence which characterizes the church all over the country is prophetic of its continued growth and usefulness.

The expanse of the Unitarian colony in this city has been in the ratio of its growth in other sections of the country, and room a small contingent of earnest worshipers it has blossomed into one of the largest and most influential denominations of the city. The meeting of the conference in Atlanta will serve as a stimulus to renewed effort and will quicken the zeal of the church membership in the undertakgin which seeks to promote its prosperity still further. The meetings of this conference this week will no doubt be largely attended.

Free to All, and of Immense Benefit to simple that a child could understand it."

Mr. Damrosch is sure of a great audience on the night of his appearance. There are, I regret to say, few fine instrumental musicians that can draw a multitude to hear them in Atlanta. Walter Damrosch, however, is one of these few. His very presence possesses that silent tense magnetism which commands one's entire interested attention, and of the art of music he has the heart and soul mastery which would make the world listen and feel did he choose to interpret his meaning on a corn stalk fiddle or a plantation tambourine. Yes, the simplest, crudest, most musically uneducated among us will go to hear Mr. Damrosch.

The Atlanta party now in Europe, consisting of Mrs. Ray and Miss Laulie Hammond Ray, Miss Laura Adair and Miss Carrie Johnson, are now traveling in Spain. They write charming letters home about their visits to those romantic places—the Alhambra, Madrid, Cordova and Seville. They will spend some time in Germany this spring and visit England and Scotland in June, the month most flattering to the loveliness of the British isles. They will be warmly welcomed by their hosts of friends.

THE PLATOON COMPANY. Which Is to Take Charge of Atlanta's

Machine Gun.
The election of the first lieutenant to command the Fifth Regiment Machine command the Fifth Regiment Machine Gun platoon, was held at the armory last night and resulted in the election of Charles H. Plyer to that position.

Mr. Plyer has been for some time connected with the military. At the time of the election he was first lieutenant of the the election he was first lieutenant of the Atlanta artifiery and will be transferred to the Firth Regiment Infantry Georgia Volunteers to command the platoon.

A machine gun platoon attached to an infantry regiment is something of an experiment, and its organization is being anxiously watched by the military men of the state. It is to be armed with rifles, and though its object duty will be to light with the Galling tion is being anxiously watched by the military men of the state. It is to be armed with riles, and though its chief duty will be to light with the Carting gun given it, it will also be able to protect itself from attack.

The men composing the platoon have been carefully chosen and are being thoroughly drilled by their officers. Several of the best men of the Atlanta Artillery have been transferred to it, and the balance of the members are picked men.

The entire Fifth regiment is being managed on a solid basis. Colonel Candier has chosen his staff carefully, and each department is now in working order. Of course, it requires a great deal of time to perfect such an organization, but it is the intention of each officer and man that it can be said of this regiment as has been said of certain companies: "It will compare favorably with any militia regiment of any state." All it needs is the active support of the citizens of Atlanta and they are certain to give it when they see that it is worthy of it.

Old Spectacles Made New,

Happenings of Interest to the People of The Southern Unitarians Meet in All the Departments in the Custom House Too Much Crowded

THEY WISH AN ADDITIONAL WING

A Petition to Be Prepared and Forwarded to Congressman Livingston-Some Strong Expressions

Will an additional wing be built on the custom house?

That is the question Uncle Sam's employes over in that edifice are asking now, and in every office there is joy over the proposition.

The ever crowded ondition of the custom house is well known. For some time the cry for more room has been going up from every part of the bunding. There is not a department in the whole place but is complaining of the lack of sufficient space to transact their various duties with any com-department in the whole place but is complaining of the lack of sufficient space to transact their various duties with any comfort. Down to the botton Dr. Fox and Major Couper are forced to crowd together the employes of the postonice in an inconvenient manner, and neither of them has the privilege of a private omice. Marshal Duniap; on the second floor, has scarcely from enough to cross his legs, and tilt back in that huge, comfortable chair. Colonel Terrell, too, has not elbow room.

When Attorney Joe James takes a notion in the afternoon to catch that Douglasville train, he has to take a running start in order to extricate himself from the great mass of papers and books piled about him in such reckless confusion. Then in the clerk's office, the genial Colquitt Carter has not space enough to extend to the uttermost that broad smile which always illumines his pleasant countenance.

And way up on the third story Mr. Park Mcrrill and his men are jammed together in a shameful fashion. So it is in all the departments of the building. There is a great lack of sufficient room to do business.

"In my opinion," sald Major Couper yes.

is a great lack of sufficient room to do business.

"In my opinion," said Major Couper yesterday afternoon, "the best thing that the government can do is to put a wing on the corner here just next to our office. This would extend the ful three stories in height, and give all the departments more room. Doctor Fox expressed himself emphatically in gard to the question of more room." Our department," said Mr. O. E. Mitchell, "has been always too much crowded. There is no question about it; we need more room here in the custom house, and the addition of the wing spoken of would help out things wonderfully."

"For some time," said Surveyor of Custims Stocker, "I have been trying to get another office. This small room which I now occupy is not large enough for me to have half the things in here which properly belong in the office of the survey of customs. I have always said that this building was too small."

A petition will probably be drawn up today and forwarded at once to Congressman Livingston asking his aid and co-peration in the matter.

Mr. Kempton's Reply to Judge Blood-

Mr. Kempton's Reply to Judge Bloodworth.

Atlanta, Ga., April 9, 1894.—Editor Constitution: Judge Bloodworth's reply to my card begins by denying the "facts" set forth. He proceeds to review and admit them from his standpoint, denying something which I have never stated and which never appeared in print till it came over his signature. He states: "He (Kempton) refused to make bond and pointed out the property of the Baldwin Cigar Manufacturing Company to be levied upon for a claim against himself, then rushes to the newspapers and states that the company's goods have been tied up, when he knew that the levy was against J. F. Kempton." The Baldwin Cigar Manufacturing Company is a partnership and its stock of goods liable for my debts as a partner of the firm. I intended giving my partner, Mr. J. C. Baldwin, as security on the bond, but, finding that he had gone to dinner, I took a box of cigars off the shelf and handed them to the balliff, remarking that it would save writing a bond. I then went back to Judge Bloodworth's office and swore out a warrant against the negro, charging him with perjury. The box of cigars is charged to my personal account, and I have never stated that they were the property of the Baldwin Cigar Manufacturing Company; neither has any newspaper made such a statement only where it appears in Judge Bloodworth's card. I stated in vesterday's Constitution: "An article in The Daily Commercial of this date, headed 'Is this Law?", while partially true, may lead those who do not know the circumstances to think that the affairs of the Baldwin Cigar Manufacturing Company, of which I am president, are embarrassed." The judge says: "The statement that blackmail was attempted to be levied, or that a proposition was made him to settle with the negro in my back room or elsewhere, is utterly false," To this I will state that Balliff McDonald, who served all the papers in the case, told me that if I would withdraw the charge of perjury he "thought" the negro would withdraw the charge, because I had not m Mr. Kempton's Reply to Judge Blood-prevent false swearing for the purpose of blackmail.

Judge Bloodworth further states that he "bound the negro over," which puts the conty to expense, when he (the judge) knew that the evidence was such that there was not "a shadow of a chance to convict," to use his own language, and then took a "straw bond" to save the county "expense." The law says he must not bind over unless he believes the evidence is "sufficient to convict," and that the party bound over must give a "good bond." Has the judge compiled with the law? He then tries to laggh the matter of by descending to ridicalle, which is beginn my notice. "My fight is against perjury and blackmail: not against Judge Bloodworth or Will Hutchinson, but if either of them has alligned himself with or in defense of the enemy on which my gun is turned and should "get hit" during the fray, I cannot help it, it matters not how much I may regret it.

TRINITY'S REVIVAL. It Is Now in Full Progress and Much

The revival at Trinity Methodist church, which is now in progress, will, in all probability, surpass the one of last year. It will be remembered that a large number of converts at that time were gathered into the membership of the church, and the religious awakening was such as the church had never before experienced. church had never before experienced.
Since the present revival was started a few days ago the interest has steadily increased, and Dr. Lewis has been very greatly encouraged in the work. The meetings are held in the basement of the church, beginning at 7:30 o'clock and lasting for only one hour.

The music is specially good, and a large part of the service is especially devoted to the singing of gospel songs. The public is cordially invited to attend the meetings cordially invited to attend the meetings and to share in the general benefit which is being derived from them.

The growth of the Sunday school connected with this church has been remarkable. It is now the largest in the city and is complete and thorough in its organization. Last Sunday morning the attendance was 526. If the school continues to grow in the same ratio there will not be enough room in the basement of the church to accommodate the expansion.

Was Treated by Dr. J. Harvey Moore, the Oculist.

REGAINS

Two Weeks Ago He Was Blind but Now Hé Can See as Well as Ever and Is Very Grateful.

Mr. F. W. Hitchcock, a well-known carpenter, who resides at 136 Venable street, Atlanta, is one of the happiest men in the city today. Yesterday he snid: "Two weeks ago I was so bind in my right eye that standing by the side of my wife I could not tell who she was; could just see there was something between me and the light. My eye was inflamed and I was suffering intense pain. Against the wishes and advice of many of my friends I consulted Dr. J. Harvey Moore. I had a perfect horror of being shut up in a dark room for days and possibly weeks, and could not spare the time to call on an oculist for weeks or months, even if it cost me nothing. I wanted to be cured if possible without any waste of time. I thoughtfully investigated the testimonials of Dr. Moore and found they were just as claimed. That he did not keep his patients coming indetinitely wasting their time, as many oculists do, but cured and discharged them as quickly as possible.

"I placed myself under his treatment two weeks ago. In one week I was able to see letters distinctly a quarter of an inch in diameter across the room and the pain was all gone, and today I think I can see as well as ever in my life. I am now working every day and have not been confined in doors a minute, and feel very grateful to Dr. Moore and anything I can do or say that will be of benefit to him or suffering humanity I am willing to do, knowing there is no longer need for any one in the south to go to New York or Philadelphia to receive treatment for their eyes, for in Dr. Moore they will receive all the skill and latest and most improved methods that is possible to obtain on this centinent."

Passenger Traffic.

OW THE VARIOUS LINES ARE HUSTLING

The Dallas Convention, the Memphis Con-ference, and the Beunion of the Con-federate Veterans—Other Notes.

There are three great conventions just ahead that are stirring up much agitation among the soliciting agents of the railroads and precipitating a great battle among the traveling passenger agents for the traffic. The conventions are the confederate vetters are the confederate vetters are the confederate vetters are the property of the 28th traveling passenger agents for the conventions are the confederate vet-erans' reunion at Birmingham on the 28th instant, the Methodist convention in Mem-phis during the month of May, and the Bouthern Baptist convention in Dallas, Tex.,

These three conventions have done very much to revive the interest in passenger collecting and all of the traveling passenger agents in Atlanta are on the kokout for the business.

for the business.

All of the conventions are to the west of Atlanta, and consequently most of the rivalry for this traffic is among the roads leading to the west, but there is at the same time much a station among the roads to the east of Atlanta, for so general are the scopes of these conventions that the entire south to be represented in the procession that will soon be marching to attend them.

will soon be marching to attend them.

The Dallas convention will be attended by probably two or three thousand people.

The Methodist convention in Memphis will also be well attended, and the reunion of the old soldiers at Birmingham is certain to be the most memorable conclaves of veterans ever before witnessed in the southern states or any where else.

Thus it is easy to predict that the railroads will have their hands full preparing for the handling of the business that is coming to them. It is interesting to observe the spirit of rivairy that has already been aroused in this competition and that it will be kept up right keenly goes withwill be kept up right keenly goes with-

It will be kept up right keenly goes without saying.

The Georgia Pacific, the East Tennessee, the Western and Atlantic and the Atlanta and West Point are especially interested in the fight for business growing out of these conventions from Atlanta.

The Georgia Pacific folks have made all manner of offers for catching the traffic, and the Western and Atlantic has a very showy handbill scattered to the four winds of the earth, telling of the attractions and claims of that line. The East Tennessee is making its usual hard pull for the business, and will get its full share, there is no sort of doubt.

A VERY POOR SCHEDULE.

Seed Travel on This End of the G., C. and N. Greatly Discommoded.

Dacula, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—The corgin, Carolina and Northern Railroad ampany has changed its schedule in such way as to deprive the people of the towns Lawrenveille, Gloster and Lilburn going st, and also Logansville of the privileges the railroad. The company has taken the accommodation train running from lanta to Elberton and as it stands the ople of these towns have no way to go this road to Atlanta in the morning.

There is only one train that passes these was going towards Atlanta which stops these places, and that is the 6. o'clock in train. There is no way for the people of any of these towns to get to Atlanta at all except to go in on this night in, save Lawrenceville people, who can the narrow guage and the Richmond Danville bell train, as was done beviatis new road was built.

This schedule necessarily forces the people who do business in Atlanta to travel the Richmond and Danville system, it may have the effect to cause the wrenceville and Logansville merchants thip all their freight by the Richmond Danville. The way the present schede stands the road is not worth a thrip to see people so far as passenger travel is merned, but as the people have such madence in Mr. Winder they are induced believe that the schedule will soon be anged so that the road may be of some fility to the general public who have busing on the presence of these places.

A Gang of Burglars Brought to Bay-The Meeting of the Police Board Yes-

The utterance of certain harsh words was the cause of two entire families and with the family of Mr. John Johnson. Mrs. Swann told a heated story to uddge Calhoun yesterday in the police court, illustrative of the abuses which she has been compelled to tolerate and of the hard-sounding epithets that have been applied to her.

Police court has never seen a warmer advocate of individual rights than Mrs.

Swann. She is an intelligent-looking lady, of good appearance, but her real or imag-ined wrongs got the better of her yesterday afternoon and she gave vent to her long pent up feelings of indignation.

She says that her wrongs, suffered at the hands of the Johnson family, are of long standing, or as she put it, "It's a year story." Particularly has she suffered at the hands of the juvenile son of Mrs. John-son, of whom she said that he seemed bent upon beating her children to death. These wrongs had been aggravated from time to time by the application to her of such epithets as "sheeny." The straw that broke the camel's back of endurance came yesterday, when the little Johnson boy made a row with her children, and Mr. Johnson came out and took it up. She says he used some harsh language to her, and she talked back to him in Ger arrested.

Yesterday the two families appeared be Yesterday the two families appeared before the recorder and the hearing of the case was humorous in the extreme. In the warmest sort of language Mrs. Swann told about the alleged indignities heaped upon her by her neighbors. After all the witnesses had been heard Recorder Calhoun allowed the entire party to go without imposing a fine.

Mr. Johnson gave the case an interesting turn by requesting the recorder to bind Mrs. Swann over to keep the peace.

Recovering Stolen Goods.

Recovering Stolen Goods. The biggest recovery of stolen goods from thieves made by the ponce department in a long time was that, the first chapter of which was told in Sunday's Constitution. The arrest of Dora Tharpe by Sergeant White on last Saturday led to the finding of the stolen goods, and to the uncovering of a big band of thieves, largely composed of women. omposed of women.

Assisted by Officers Tysor and Moncrief, of the mounted department, Sergeant White has recovered goods amounting in value to several hundred dollars. In the collection of stolen goods are wares of almost every description. There are a number of fine dresses, some rugs, three diamonds, jewelry of other kinds, silverware, lamps and many other articles.

As stated in Sunday's Constitution, Sergeant White recovered seventy-seven keys from the woman. Yesterday he recovered more than three times that number, amounting an all to 276. With the large assortment of keys she had in her possession the robber gang could have gained entrance to almost any house in Atlanta. The stolen articles no doubt represent as many as fifty different burglaries.

All day yesterday the goods were piled out upon tables in a hall at police headquarters and numbers of visitors called and identified stolen goods. In all four members of the gang have been arrested, two mein and two women. The officers have by no means completed their work, and sul more startling results may be expected.

The Police Board Meets. There was a meeting of the board of police commissioners yesterday afternoon, the regular monthly meeting. The usual routine business was transacted and resolutions prescribing the method of police correspondence were adopted. According to the resolutions no communication on police business can be made except it bear the signature of Chief Connolly. Chief Connolly is also required to keep on file press copies of all correspondence and telegrams going through his office.

Charleston, S. C., April 9.—After hearing argument, Judge Charles H. Simonton, sitting in the United States court, refused to grant a petition for a further postponement of the sale of the South Carolina railroad. Last fall, the date for the sale of the road was fixed for April 12th.

Last week a petition was filed by E. Ellery Anderson, of New York, representing $400,000 worth of the second mortgage bonds, and praying that the sale be postponed until some date not earlier than the 4th of September next. Argument was made on the petition this morning. The petition was supported by Mr. J. N. Nathans, of Charleston and resisted by Wheeler H. Peckham, of New York, and T. W. Bacot and Samuel Lord, of Charleston. The arguments were short, and at their conclusion. Judge Simonton refused to grant the postponement. The road will consequently be sold on Thurs-

Martin, administratrix, v. Walker. Before Judge Jenkins. Baldwin superior court.

1. In an action of complaint for land, the plaintiff being an administratrix cum testamento annexo and being also devise of the land, a disclaimer of title made by her in both characters, pending the action, no consideration therefor being recited or otherwise appearing, cannot be used to defeat the action, she at the trial resisting the disclaimer and showing that it was obtained from her in the absence of her counsel and without advice from him or any one else learned in the law.

2. The owner of land having mortgaged or conveyed the same as security for a debt, and the secured creditor having, at her instance, procured another person to advance the money to pay off the debt and having surrendered to her (the debtor) the deed or mortgage made as security, the person so advancing the money not taking or, so far as appears, requiring any security, the latter obtained no title to the land and had no right to take possession of it after the death of the owner, as against the legal representative of her estate; nor did a deed to him from her husband made after her death, although the land was devised to him by her for the term of his own life, entitle the grantee in the deed to retain possession after the death of his grantor, the tenant for life. But if it affirmatively appeared that the devise for life was assented to by the executor or by the administratrix cum testamento annexo, this assent would inure to the devisee in remainder and might serve to defeat the present action to which such devisee in remainder and might serve to defeat the present action to which such devisee in not a party in that character but only as administratrix with the will annexed.

City of Greenesboro v. McGibbony. Before Judge Bartlett. Greene superior court.

Although the charter of a city may not, in express terms, confer the power or impose the duty of keeping the streets and bridges within the corporate limits in proper condition and repair, yet where the charter grants to the corporate authorities the power to "impose such taxes upon all the real and personal estate within the corporate limits of said city as they shall deem necessary for the support of the government of said city, or for other purposes, and e*-enforce the collection of the same;" and where these authorities have assumed and exercised corporate functions over the streets and bridges, and have negligently constructed or failed to keep in repair a bridge upon one of the public streets, whereby a traveler crossing the same sustains a personal injury, the corporation is liable to make compensation in damages, though no right of action be given by the charter or any statute. The right to redress for an injury occasioned by a defective structure erected and maintained by the corporation upon the public highway within the city is a right derived from the common law, and ray be recognized and enforced under the circumstances of the present case.

2. Where one is tortiously disabled by a personal injury and prevented from attending to his ordinary business for several weeks, he may be allowed nominal damages, at least, for his loss of time, although no definite evidence of the value of his time be submitted to the jury.

other personalty, without any restriction whatever upon the right or the use, save that his son was to have all the necessary expenses of his education, board and clothing paid out of the proceeds of the farm and stock; and the will directed that after the death of the widow all the property thus given to her for life be sold by the executor, and the proceeds of the sale divided among the testator's children, the executor had no right to sell the natural increase of any of the animals so bequeathed, but did have the right to sell horses and mules received by the widow in exchange for horses and mules which the testator left to her, the executor electing to treat exchanges made by her as investments of the capital which would or might have come to him specifically for administration under the will in behalf of the remaindermen. Although her conversion of the remainder estate in the corpus was tortious, yet the executor could waive the tort, ratify the exchanges and take the proceeds, if to do so would be beneficial to the estate which he represents.

2. As to the tools, vehicles, and other personalty found upon the land after the death of the widow, the executor would have the right to sell such of them as were the identical articles disposed of by the will, or received in exchange therefor, or purchased with the proceeds of the sale thereof; but would have no right to sell such articles as were otherwise acquired by the widow, or the person in possession after her death and claiming the same.

No appearance contra. THE SUPREME COURT. Decisions Rendered Monday, April REPORTED FOR THE CONSTITUTION By Peeples and Stevens, Reporters for Central Railroad and Banking Company v. Bridger. Before Judge Jenkins. Wilkinson superior court.

1. In order for a common carrier by whom the transportation begun on a preceding connecting line is to be completed, to take the benefit of a special contract between the shipper and the initial carrier, limiting liability in case of loss to a stipulated value per hundred pounds, it must appear either that the contract was such as to bind the initial carrier for full performance, so as to make the second carrier the agent of the first, or else that the reduced rate forming the consideration of the special contract was not confined to the line of the first carrier but was, either by the contract itself or by the act of the second carrier in rating and billing the goods over his line, extended and applied to that line also.

2. A special contract expressed in a bill of lading and in the written assent of the shipper to its terms, which relates to a consignment of goods from a given point on one railway to a given point on another, and which purports on its face to be a through bill of lading but expressly limits the undertaking of the first company to performance on its own line with no further duty on its part but to deliver to the connecting line, and which names no rate of freight further than the terminus of the first line but expressly excludes any guaranty of a rate beyond that point, does not bind the first company, the one with which the contract was made, to complete, either by itself or by the second company as its agent, the whole transportation. And although the contract provides on its face for extension to the second company, at the option of the latter, of the benefits secured to the former in consequence of the educed rate, etc. in appearing that the second company availed itself of this privilege by shipping the goods over its line at a reduced rate, etc. and the goods having been destroyed by fire upon that line, presumably by reason of negligence on the part of this company, and specified on the fa Central Railroad and Banking Company v. Wells v. Dillard, et al. Before Judge Butt.
Marion superior court.

1. Where it appears that a widow made application for dower, that commissioners to assign the same were duly appointed and that the dower land was in fact laid off, and the widow entered into possession and occupied the same for more than seven years, with the consent and acquiescence of the administrator and off the heirs at law, her privies in estate, as well as she, herself, are estopped from controverting the regularity and validity of the assignment on the ground that the commissioners failed to make any return, and then no judgment of the court was rendered adopting or confirming the action of the commissioners. Inasmuch as the administrator and the heirs would be estopped by their consent and acquiescence, the widow and those claiming in privity with her are estopped also.

2. Where an administrator sells and conveys to a widow so much of a named lot of land as may be embraced in these terms of description: "lot land list in 31st district, Marion county, except the widow's dower and ten acres off southeast corner"—the administrator's deed also reciting that the widow's dower and ten acres off the softheast corner of said lot, the widow at the time of sale being in possession of a definite portion of the west part of the lot, which portion had been previously laid off as her dower, the proper construction of the conveyance is, that both this portion and the ten acres in the towleast corner were wholly excepted from the sale made by the administrator, the phrase "the widow's dower," as used in the conveyance, meaning not the legal right of dower, but the parcel of land itself over which that right had been asserted and exercised.

3. The heirs having consented to and acquiesced in the entry and occupation of the widow, raising no question as to the mode or legality of assigning and laying off her dower, they had no right to the possession until after her death, inasmuch as, under section 2260 of the code, no forfeiture resulted by reason o Washington Dessau and J. Broach v. O'Neal. Before Judge Jenkins.

Jones superior court.

1. Where a mortgagor, owning at the time of executing the mortgage, a tract of land lying all in one body, describes the same in the mortgage as containing one thousand acres, more or less, and all the contiguous owners are mentioned save one, and the mortgagor himself is not named as a contiguous owner, nor any division of the tract into two parts is indicated or hinted at, and nothing appears to show or suggest that the mortgage understood or suspected that it was the purpose of the mortgagor to except or reserve any portion of the tract, the mortgage is rightly construed as embracing the whole tract, although upon an actual survey afterwards made, the contents are found to be seventy-one and seven-tenths acres more than one thousand. The omission of the name of one of the contiguous owners should be treated, as casual or accidental.

2. The omission of the words "more or less." after the words one thousand acres, from the execution founded on the judgment of foreclosure, and from the entry of levy as made thereon by the sheriff, will not vitiate the sale as a sale of the whole tract, nor limit the quantity sold and rightly to be conveyed by the sheriff, to one thousand acres of the tract. A deviation from the mortgage and from the judgment of foreclosure in so slight an element of description, the other terms of the description being substantially adhered to and being apparently sufficient to locate and identify the premises, is of no real moment or consequence.

3. It is only when a description of premises is manifestly too meager, imperfect or uncertain to serve as adequate means of indentification, that the court can adjudge the description insufficient as matter of law. In the present case the adequacy of the description in sufficient as matter of law. In the present case the adequacy of the description in the declaration could be applied, under the facts in evidence, so as to indentify any defin

1. Where one having an offer of employment at a specific compensation per month, properly delivered to a felegraph company for transmission a message accepting the offer, failure of the company to transmit and deliver the message, in consquecce of which the offer expired by reason of non-acceptance within the time limited in its terms, and thus the opportunity for employment was lost, the sender of the message may recover of the company for its breach of duty such damages as he acutally sustained by reason of the uniform transmit and deliver his message of acceptance. Prima facie such offer of employment would cover the term of at least one month; and if he remained unemployed for that length of time and could not obtain employment elsewhere, he would be entitled to recover at least one month's wages.

2. The penalty provided by statute for elsewhere, he would be entitled to recover at least one month's wages.

2. The penalty provided by statute for failure to transmit and general messages promptly is a separate and distinct cause of action from the damages recoverable under the general law for like default; and while the statute allows both causes to be joined in the same action, there is no authority, where one is omitted, for introducing it by way of amendment to the declaration Judgment reversed.

1. Where machinery is bought for a certain purpose, and after its reception it proves, upon trial, not to be adapted to the purpose, but the purchaser nevertheless retains it, an action for the price cannot be defeated upon a plea of total failure of consideration, unless the evidence shows that the machinery was wholly valueless for any purpose.

that the machinery was wholly valueless for any purpose.

2. The evidence being silent as to any representation, stipulation or inquiry touching the kind of horses that would be requisite to operate the machinery manufactured by the plaintiff and sold by him to the defendant, it was error to instruct the jury that if the defendant was to use such stock as was ordinarily used for farm purposes, and none other, and if it took horses of greater capacity or heavier weight than ordinary horses, it was the duty of the plaintiff to put the defendant on notice of that fact; and if he concealed it, or represented that the machinery could be used ordinarily upon farms, the defendant would not be bound to use other than ordinary farm horses; and if horses of greater capacity were required, and the plaintiff concealed that fact, this was fraud on his part, and he could not recover.

1. The declaration alleging a contract for the transportation of cotton by the defendant from Columbus, Ga., to Liverpool, England, and setting forth no consideration except an agreed rate of freight per 100 pounds, and the evidence showing that the actual shipment of cotton from Columbus was made upon a bill of lading which the defendant, by its agent, another railway company which it designated to receive the cotton for it, delivered to the plaintiffs at the time of receiving the cotton for shipment, which bill of lading the same to a draft drawn by them upon other parties for money, this bill of lading, and not prior stipulations, must be regarded as embracing the final contract on which the plaintiff, as well as the defendant, acted touching the business of transporting the cotton, and it not being produced nor its contents proved, the plaintiffs could not recover for an alleged breach of the contract of transportation by failure of the defendant's steamship to sail with the cotton on board from an American port on a particular day.

2. As no contract of solicitation by which plaintiff was induced to purchase and ship, but only the contract of transportation, was declared upon, the court did not err in excluding evidence of conversations and stipulations, some of which occurred prior to the purchase of the cotton by the plaintiffs, and all prior to the execution and acceptance of the bill of lading.

2. Irrespective of other questions in the case, the failure of the plaintiffs to prove the contract declared upon. by legal evidence, rendered the judgment of nonsuit not only proper, but necessary.

A single stockholder in a corporation aggregate cannot, without suing in behalf of all the interested stockholders and allowing them to become coparties, maintain an action against the directors for misfeasance or nonfeasance in their official conduct, whereby the income or earnings of the corporation, and consequently the value of the plaintiff's stock, were less than they otherwise would have been. If the plaintiff was the sole stockholder whose interest was affected by the default attributed to the directors, he should have so alleged in his petition. As the corporation is, in contemplation of law, the party directly and immediately aggrieved by any want of diligence or fieldity in the conduct of its directors, it should be a party defendant to an action brought by the stockholders, in order that the result may bind it and bar any future action which it might bring for the same cause.

The Sons of Confederate Veterans

IN THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

To Arrange for Memorial Day-The Progress Which Has Been Made in Arranging for the Celebration.

There will be a meeting of the Sons of Confederate Veterans this afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the Chamber of Commerce, for the purpose of taking action in regard to Memorial Day.

A full attendance of all the young men of Atlanta whose fathers participated in the war and who fought in behalf of the south and should glowingly bear testimony to the fact that the young men of the south have not forgotten the glory of a former genera-tion. Colonel John Milledge, the marshal of the day, has appointed Messrs. T. B. Felder and Albert Howell, Jr., to organize these younger spirits of the city, who will act as an escort to the ladies of the Memorial

Here Is the Call.

The following is the official call for the meeting this afternoon:

"The Sons of Confederate Veterans in the county of Fulton are hereby requested to meet at the Chamber of Commerce, corner of Pryor and nunter streets, on Tuesday afternoon, the Join instant, 1884, for the purpose of organizing to take part in the attendal Day parade on the 26th of April.

"T. E. FELDER, JR.,"

"ALBERT HOWELL, JR."

It is expected that fully 200 young men, in addition to those who will be counted in the military organizations, will consti-in the military organizations, will consti-tute this escort to the Memorial Associa-tion. It is a call that should appeal to the southern chivalry of every young man in this city.

The meeting will occur this afternoon at 4 o'clock promptly.

No Little Enthusiasm.
A great deal of enthusiasm has been manifested throughout the city and all over the state in regard to the unveiling of the mon-ument to the unknown dead.

The occasion will be of peculiar interest and will bring to Atlanta such an outpour ing of the citizen soldiery as has not been witnessed here in many years.

From all parts of the state has come the ouraging news that the soldier boys are

They will be here from Barnesville, La-Grannge, Lithonia, Rome, Grima, Cedartown, and from all points in north Georgia. It will be a mighty gathering of the cians, and will recall the days when the toesin of war summoned the best blood of this section to the and of the confederacy. In addition to these, all the local mintary and civic organizations will be in the procession and will make it the longest ever seen in this section of the country. The members of the Confederace Veterans' Association will be out in full strength, and will present one of the most striking features of the day.

An escort from the members of the Gate City Guard will accompany the veterans on the march. This company served throughout the war, having emisted as far back as 1861. No city in the south will observe Memorial Day in a, manner equal to Atlanta. It will be an historic occasion.

As to the Monument.

The work on the monument to the unthe clans, and will recall the days when the

The work on the monument to the unknown dead is progressing rapidly. It will be ready in good time and will be in position by the 25th of April, in readiness for the unveiling.
